PREFACE

The special placing of the name vibration, in connection with the individual birth for each of the twelve months, is absolutely original with the author and can be used by no one in any publication without express permission from Veolia J. and Aelva J. Boyle.

"You are a musical instrument. Your body and the conditions of your life are the result of the harmonies or discords played by you or upon you from day to day, by your personal name." It is merely another more subtle, form of Wireless Telegraphy, and of the action of Sound upon the life.

Business men will find these books invaluable in judging employees, partners, general conditions, etc.

As a health guide they are also of great assistance, as well as in showing the direction where physical, financial or mental danger lies.

They have been written for the benefit of those, who having neither time nor inclination for the deeper study necessary to an understanding of the principles involved in this science, nevertheless wish a method which will guide them by the very shortest cut possible, to its results and benefits.

That it is an absolute exact and accurate science, has long passed beyond the possibility of question.

It is the one science which offers a method of at least ameliorating, and a cure, for many of the evils of life.

To those merely seeking amusement they will be found to contain an endless fund of enjoyment.

The definitions given here contain the type of events likely to occur during the life of the individual whose name is being read. Some of them may have already occurred, others will probably be yet to come. If one part of the name shows fortunate indications and another indicates misfortune, then there will be periods when the good fortune will predominate, and other periods when it will seem as if all went wrong.

DIRECTIONS

To use this book follow directions carefully.

The manner of adding the names from the table of letters and numbers as given below is very simple. Any child of ten can learn it in a few moments.

If it is done correctly the accuracy of the reading given for each number will be a never ending source of amusement and fascination to all.

Each letter is to be counted as the number under which it is placed in the table.

Use every name you possess, such as Mary Ann Smith; also your mother's last name, before marriage; and day of month of birth as a number.

Do not add the names together, use each separately.

If one name has a fortunate definition and one unfortunate, the life will partake of each.

The table for addition of names:

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
a	b	c	d	e	f	g	h	i
j	k	l	m	n	o	p	q	r
s	t	u	v	w	x	y	z

Example:

M a r y

$$4+1+9+7=21$$

S m i t h

$$1+4+9+2+8=24 \text{ (Mother's name before marriage)}$$

J a c k s o n

BIRTH

Between Jan. 21 and Feb. 19.

1 or A—Ambition; strength of will; thoughtful; serious; reserved. Difficulty in working in subordinate position. Steadfast; persevering. Apt to have disputes with parents, employers or guardians. Generally success in public occupations, city positions and governing bodies. Favorable for gaining one's independence, and for holding positions of an isolated type. Especially good for connection with electrical or manufacturing machinery. Possible early death of father or separation from him. Many changes of occupation. Tendency to become eccentric, and may suffer from public criticism.

2 or B—Excellent mental powers, learns easily, good memory. Apt to favor the lower classes. Favorable for work as manager, or agent or in connection with food-stuffs, such as farmer, miller, grocer, hotels, restaurants; or with drugs and medicines as doctor or nurse. Inclined to be critical and retiring yet slightly boastful. Tends to a quiet rather uneventful life but gives considerable success with servants and employees. Probably many friends especially among women. May make many short journeys and act as secretary, messenger, traveller or ambassador; or possibly a teacher.

- 3 or C—Great love of beauty. Excellent taste. Strong love nature which is difficult to restrain. Fond of admiration and too easily influenced by the opposite sex. Good for health and popularity. Inclined to early marriage and sometimes a hasty one. Talent for music, poetry or painting, but not much application. May be extravagant. Love for clothes, ornaments and show.
- 4 or D—Apt to be impulsive and abrupt in speech and manners; but intellectual and quick-witted. May do things suddenly and unexpectedly without considering consequences. May have schemes for public benefits, and profit through the parents and public work. Forceful and ready speaker; and generally rather positive opinions which he may change suddenly. Probably suffer from loss of friends, and their opposition and hostility, and from the treachery of one of them. Dictatorial and anxious to lead. May be estranged from the parents one of whom may die early in life. Tends to a death among strangers at a distance from home, possibly a foreign land; which may be caused directly or indirectly by a friend. May gamble.
- 5 or E—Favorable for religious matters or clergymen. Good humored, kind, liberal, just. Fortunate also for literature, journeys, dealings with horses or shipping and preferment in learned bodies. Money through legacy or marriage. Fond of games and speculation. Probably two love affairs or marriages, one may be with a relative. Possible tendency to gambling.
- 6 or F—Ambitious. Usually has a public career, rises in life and becomes prominent. Love of power, independence and authority. Success through the father, or if a woman, through the husband.
- 7 or G—Good for popularity, friendship, love and marriage; transitory friendships with artists, musicians, mystics. Danger of scandal, loss or treachery through friends.

- 8 or H—More fortunate for commerce than for professional work. Fond of science and philosophy, good memory. Excellent secretary, clerk or any sort of employee. Tendency to undertake too many things. May do much in a quiet way but not very successful for obtaining public notice. May write on unpopular subjects. Tendency to acquire a habit of drug taking; at some time may be obliged to travel for health. Danger of nervous troubles from overwork, bringing indigestion, liver and bowel complaints.
- 9 or I—Success in serious matters; university life or religion. Tends to power, prominence, or responsibility; faithful; good worker. Profit through judicious investments, legal or religious matters. May inherit through the father. Possible connection with shipping or horses. May be separated from a parent through travel, religion or politics. Danger of disputes, misfortune, losses through religion or bigotry; and while travelling in foreign lands. May join religious or philosophical societies.
- 10 or J—Very determined and self-willed. Strong power of concentration. Quick-witted and keen, but possibly aggressive and rebellious. Sometimes rather likes to be antagonistic. May receive an unexpected legacy. Danger of accidents, falls, gunshot wounds, explosions, probable sudden end.
- 11 or K—Quick, restless manner and mind. Rapid walker. Does much travelling. Many changes of residence. May have prophetic dreams and psychic experiences. May be a somnambulist. Candid, honorable, good-humored. Talent, or possibly genius in religion, philosophy, music or poetry. Natural teacher or preacher. Also successful in amusement lines or with shipping and horses. May have two occupations. Possible danger while travelling.

- 12 or L—Kind and sympathetic. Fortunate for marriage, partnership and popularity. Most successful in partnership. Generally gain through marriage. Love of music, poetry and literature. Favorable for connection with toilet preparations, clothing, ornaments, perfume.
- 13 or M—Quick temper, excitable and at times aggressive, therefore apt to make enemies; though candid, generous and sincere. Fearless, enterprising, independent. May have a secret love affair and a disappointment in love; or lose the loved one by death. Possibly loss of a child by disaster, death or separation. Possible danger of fevers and trouble with the heart and back.
- 14 or N—Apt to be grave, serious, ambitious, orthodox, dignified and perhaps melancholy. May become rich through religious matters, foreign affairs, commercial enterprises, death of relatives. Success in public matters and government affairs. Apt to become much involved in the troubles of friends. Successful and popular. Possibility of great wealth. Fond of travel and likelihood of at least one long voyage.
- 15 or O—General success, vitality, forceful character. Rise in position. Tends to give long life.
- 16 or P—Success in clerical work, nursing and medicine. Possible genius in art or music. Danger of loss through treachery, dishonesty and deceit of servants or employees. Unfortunate in employment; but possible success through psychic matters. Liable to trouble with stomach and bowels.
- 17 or Q—Makes up the mind slowly; but very determined when once it is made up. Money may come through brothers and sisters, writing, teaching, travelling. Patient and persevering in acquiring knowledge. Apt to gain money. Sociable, friendly, affectionate. Religious. Fond of art and poetry. Good memory. May be irritable at times.

- 18 or R—Trouble and misfortune, especially in early life, connected with relatives; journeys, clerical and literary work; profit from two sources; but these may be questionable. Possibility of domestic troubles or treachery which may lead to false imprisonment; many troubles caused by deceitful relatives or inferiors tends to bring public dishonor. May marry abroad, or marriage may be with foreigner. Suffering caused by self-deception. Possible strange death through violence or jealousy.
- 19 or S—Imaginative, intuitive, but peculiar. Rivalry, opposition, enemies. Manner is cold and distant. Probable hasty engagement and marriage, and later separation, divorce, or loss by death. Troubles with business partners and acquaintances.
- 20 or T—Same as 2.
- 21 or U—Very determined in opinions. Marriage is sometimes delayed. Money probable through marriage; popularity, the public. Possible trouble in connection with marriage because of money, death, or separation from loved one. Favorable for money and property. Money by legacy, partnership, marriage and business. Affectionate, faithful. Gains and losses by speculation.
- 22 or V—Literary, quick-witted, mentally and physically active. Possibly deceitful. Fond of family and home and usually much attached to the mother. Imaginative, friendly, sociable. Inheritance from parents and usually gain through the mother. Many changes of residence. Fond of music, painting and poetry. Most fortunate when associated with others. Should live near water. Successful with houses, land and shipping or in dealing in liquids. Usually comfort at end of life. May have psychic experiences. Digestive troubles likely.

- 23 or W—Friendship of employes; general prosperity and good health. Practical, philosophical, analytical. Benefits through servants or employées. Faithful to employers. Profit through investments, literature, travels by land, and dealing in second-hand things. May have secret love-affairs and marry an inferior. Likely to have foreign associations and travels. Danger of suffering by treachery and deceit, indolence and various misfortunes. Likely to have trouble with liver, digestion and bowels.
- 24 or X—Same as 15.
- 25 or Y—Generally good for money and business, though there may be periods in the life when the reverse of this is true. Good natured and patient. Fortunate for friendship and marriage. May suffer through dishonesty and fraud. Danger of a tragedy in the life.
- 26 or Z—Active mind and great readiness of speech. Just, generous, sincere. Talent for medicine, science and literature. Changeable. Apt to jump from one subject to another. May marry an inferior. Cheerful, fond of social life. Easy-going; peaceful; may be indolent. Likely to have two occupations at the same time or change from one to another. May be the recipient of charity or gift from friends and may gain through painting, music or some obscure occupation. Danger of heavy losses and of difficulty in making a living. May have secret enemies, connected with love affairs or marriage. Separation and scandal. Financial loss through women. May be many obstacles to the marriage.

4 or D—Ambitious. Fond of public life and generally wins prominence. Good soldier or sailor. Apt to be dictatorial and sometimes quarrelsome. Inclined to have trouble with those in authority or higher position, and arouse enmity, rivalry, opposition and criticism. May quarrel with the father and be early separated from him through his death, or in some other way. There may be disagreements and separation between the parents themselves. Liability to same type of trouble with brothers, sisters; difficulties through letters, writings, journeys, accidents.

5 or E—Active, self-confident, fertile; unswerving from their object. Persevering, generous, enthusiastic. Fond of mysteries and occult matters. Analytical and both destructive and constructive. Positive and sometimes aggressive especially in religious matters. May incline to some peculiar religious or philosophical belief. May lose a child. Danger or misfortune from water or travelling. Possibility of death by water or while travelling. Love of pleasure, amusement and show. Very emotional and imaginative. Generally good for money through legacy, marriage or partnership, though possibility of the sum being a small one.

6 or F—Probable success in law, religion, philosophy, publishing; also travel to a distance or in foreign countries. Constant, persevering.

7 or G—Success in artistic, musical or psychical matters. May have trouble in the family especially in early life. Probably largely through the father. Generally fortunate in money matters and especially good for working in musical or artistic lines; or in large distributing business. Danger of downfall and scandals.

- 8 or H—Positive, strong-minded, self-indulgent, but kind hearted, fond of pleasure, easy-going. Fortunate for teachers, singers, artists, writers. Generally successful speculators. Good director or manager and generally rises to responsible position. May make many journeys. Fond of children. Danger of treachery or slander through servants, employees or superiors; also from drugs, and weaknesses of heart or bowels.
- 9 or I—Force of character, strength of will, love of power and authority, ability and desire to control others. Dislike of opposition or restraint. Danger of many misfortunes such as loss of legacy, marriage or business partner, reputation. Possible downfall through crime or shame. Subtle character able to plot and scheme. Tends to break up or disintegrate. May be separated from the father or he may die early. May be the cause of many troubles. Best for occupation connected with death and the affairs of the dead; and business dealing in chemicals or hygiene. Health apt to be delicate in youth; but may live a long life. Danger, accidents, poisons, surgical operations, contagious disease. Possibility of death in a public manner or in a public place.
- 10 or J—Trouble through impulsive marriage or partnership. Apt to bring enmity, opposition, broken friendships. Probable separation or divorce. Fortunate for artistic or literary matters; and tends to bring these into the life. Strong imagination and intuition.
- 11 or K—Firm, determined, self-reliant. Abrupt, plain-spoken, hard worker. Probable legacy through the mother or through females. Conservative and averse to change, especially if forced into it; and may be obstinate, irritable, have considerable temper and be revengeful. May speak coarsely and become dissipated. Danger of scandal. May frequently act as executor, or follow some occupation connected with the dead. Strongly attracted to the opposite sex. Favors marriage; but if a woman danger in any connection with men.

12 or L—Apt to bring delays and disappointments in love affairs, partnership or marriage. May marry an inferior. May gain money through employees or as an employee. Favorable for occupations connected with medicines, drugs, nursing, doctoring, food, farming or gardening. Generally good health, digestion and appetite.

13 or M—Probable trouble with the parents; possibility of disagreement with or separation from, or early death of one of them. May inherit through the mother or her side of the family, or may in some way inherit houses and land; but there is danger of much forced expenditure through these sources, accidents or fire in the dwelling, digestive troubles, fevers, accidents. Many changes of residence. Danger from water. Rebels against authority; original, independent. Probability of disease of nerves and stomach.

14 or N—Especially fortunate for religious matters. Good humored, kind, broad-minded, love of justice. Fortunate for literature, travels, or connection with shipping or horses. Good for advancement in religious, philosophical, or scientific societies. Tends to general good fortune and success. Natural peace-maker. May gain through legacy or marriage, and have two love affairs or marriages. One may be with a relative. Generally successful in speculation, but may develop a love for gambling.

15 or O—Tends to a quiet, secluded life with obscure or ordinary occupations. Danger of loss, prosecution, isolation and secret enemies.

16 or P—Talent for art, music and the stage; very affectionate and emotional. Lavishly generous. Danger of falls, should keep away from high places; also danger of scandal through children or love affairs.

- 17 or Q—Brilliant. Quick-witted. Business ability. Good writer and speaker, but with a tendency to exaggerate. Sarcastic, enthusiastic, excitable. May write and publish, and have many friends among literary people. Tends to short writings rather than long. Probably to much travelling. Danger of trouble to head or bowels, or of fevers and accidents.
- 18 or R—Economic, diplomatic, reserved. Profit through industry, careful investments, thrift. Strong-willed, determined. Kind-hearted and rather slow, but at times easily aroused to passion. Not good for money matters; money comes but slowly and wastes away. Sorrow and treachery through relatives and offspring. Possibility of inheritance through father, or one of the parents; sickness through travel, probably in foreign lands. Generally dislikes travel. Peculiar domestic experiences. Death of marriage partner is likely. May be somewhat selfish and miserly.
- 19 or S—Brings obstacles, thwarted ambition, restrictions insurmountable difficulties connected with occupation. May succeed best in partnership or when associated with others; especially in science, chemistry or art. Success at times in a public or state occupation; but danger of hostility and public enmity. Disputes with subordinates. May have trouble with digestion and bowels.
- 20 or T—Same as 2.
- 21 or U—Ardent in love matters. Finds it difficult to restrain the affections. Love of beauty. Generally good health. Too easily influenced by opposite sex. Makes friends easily, apt to be popular. Inclined to make an early marriage. Talent for music, poetry, painting and enthusiastic concerning them, though not much application. Fond of show, fine clothes and admiration. Usually fortunate in money matters, but loss of money through one's own fault, or too free expenditure is likely.

- 22 or V—Intellectual and a lover of books, study, scientific and literary pursuits. Many changes of residence, or has more than one house. Many journeys; short or long. Apt to walk and ride considerably or be much outside. Versatile. Skilled with hands and arms. Generally able to live by the wits. May earn a living as traveller, salesman, speaker, writer, artist, sculptor. May have more than one occupation, or change from one to another. May be irresolute and lack perseverance. Possibility of being underhanded or subtle, or even dishonest.
- 23 or W—Sincere, generous. Fond of power, pomp, dignity, display, courteous. Friends of good position influence the life. Fitted for the head of some undertaking directing and controlling others. Love of dramatic grandeur and ceremony and great enterprises. May gain prominence in religion, philosophy, fine arts or intellectual matters. Travelling is generally for a definite end. Good constitution and vitality. Generally fortunate through offspring, social life, friends. May profit through pleasure, sporting matters, the stage, or educational work.
- 24 or X—Same as 15.
- 25 or Y—Very emotional. Strange life; crowded with unusual experiences. Love of travel, charitable. May be untruthful. Inclined to have weird dreams or presentiments.
- 26 or Z—Positive, obstinate, difficult to convince. May profit through legacy. Enthusiastic in espousing any cause and made highly indignant by a real or imaginary wrong. 30—Usually closely associated with one of the parents, generally the mother. Love for family life. Marriage may be late in life as there are likely to be obstacles to money and marriage. May be considerable difference in age between one's self and the marriage partner. A parent on one side or the other may do some special thing to help or hinder the marriage. May gain financially through houses and land, through the parents, marriage partner, or in connection with shipping or water.

31—Impulsive and abrupt in manner and in speech. Quick-witted. May develop a tendency to gamble. Apt to do sudden and unexpected things. Forcible and determined, ready speaker. Opposition and hostility from former friends; possible trouble through false friends, and may lose many by death or estrangement. Trouble through firms, societies, companies. May profit through public work and parents and make a good marriage. Loves to direct others. May lose a child or be estranged from it. Death may be due directly or indirectly to some action of a friend, and may be at a distance from home or in a foreign land.

32—Fortunate for money and friends. Tends to bring money through church matters, philosophy, learning, shipping, travel, horses, speculation, investments; affectionate. May also gain through land and food, but danger of losses at times through these sources.

33—Tends to connect one with administrative bodies; bring public honors, satisfied ambition, many friends, benefits from those in higher position.

34—Very emotional, with love of sensation and luxury. Generally fortunate for money matters; or gain through marriage and business partner, or legacy. Danger of losses at times through the same sources.

35—Learns easily, fond of science and philosophy. Success lies mainly in commercial lines. Good memory, excellent clerk or secretary. Tries to follow too many studies or occupations. Not especially good for public success in either speaking or writing. Tendency to bowel complaint and nerve troubles brought on usually by overwork. Danger of forming a drug habit.

36—Troubles and difficulties, especially in early life, in regard to education, brothers and sisters, literary work. Talent for invention and discovery, strength of character. May gain through travel and at times through matters mentioned above. Danger of false imprisonment through treachery or domestic troubles. Deceitful relatives. May make a marriage abroad, at a distance from home, or to a foreigner. Loss through legal matters. Strange death through violence or jealousy.

37—Apt to bring trouble in the home life, possible estrangement. May be losses through houses and land, and obstacles connected with the occupation. May have trouble with a parent, changes of residence: annoyance in public life.

38—General popularity, love of music, poetry, good-natured, makes friends easily. Fortunate for marriage and partnerships. Success with the masses. Women friends. Very easily influenced by others and very dependent upon companionship. Danger at times of domestic troubles and losses through partners.

39—Same as 3.

40—Same as 4.

41—Intelligent, analytical, fond of picking things to pieces to find out the why and wherefore. Practical, rather materialistic. Faithful worker and usually fortunate in obtaining faithful employes. May be absent-minded or lacking in application. Not very favorable for marriage. May travel, but generally by land. May gain through teaching, literature, investments, employees, or dealing in second hand things. May have secret love affairs. Tendency to trouble with liver, digestion and bowels, and of treachery from an employee.

42—Force of character. Energetic. Vitality. General success and long life.

43—Generally brings considerable travel. May have pre-sentiments or be very psychic in some way.

- 44—May have two occupations at the same time or change the occupation frequently and suddenly. Much travelling. Brilliant, but may be changeable.
- 45—Serious, critical, analytical. Excellent manager or superintendent, because of a gift for controlling and handling employees. May be reserved or somewhat gloomy and melancholy especially in later life. There is likelihood of thwarted ambition and some drawback in the occupation. Difficulties through the father are probable; also through servants and employees. Tendency to colds and trouble with liver, stomach and bowels; also headaches. May have a romantic love affair, but marry late in life. Domestic difficulties are probable. Possibility of brain trouble.
- 46—Not good for money matters. Causes sudden losses, foolish ventures, trouble through dishonesty. Involved affairs, but much ingenuity and resourcefulness in getting out of difficulties. - 47—Much travelling. Probably psychic; may have presentiments. Restless and unsettled physically and mentally. Very active; quick walker. May be a somnambulist. Strong talent as teacher of religion or philosophy; also music and poetry. Tendency to be secretive and rebellious. May also gain through shipping, horses or amusement enterprises, especially if these are near water or connected with water. Faithful to employer and a hard worker; may benefit through employees. May have two occupations or change from one to another. Likelihood of danger while travelling.
- 48—Positive and fixed in opinions and very determined; though also affectionate. Apt to be fortunate and gain financially by marriage, through friends, general popularity, the public. Marriage is liable to be delayed on account of money, death, or an unyielding disposition. Fortunate for receiving legacy, and for business. Speculation will generally be successful though there is also danger of loss through this.

49—Same as 13.

50—Truthful, trustworthy, good-tempered but restless and changeable, fond of novelty and travelling. Tends to social and business success. May gain through literature, or educational matters. May make two marriages, one may be with a close friend or relative. Possible trouble through the family. Difficulties caused by fickleness, or through letters, travelling or relatives. Possible estrangement from the mother, brothers and sisters. Rather unfortunate in connection with lands or houses.

51—Same as 42.

52—Broad-minded, sympathetic, charitable. Apt to join secret societies; but may have trouble through those connected with these associations. May benefit through the help or charity of others; though at some time might endow a charitable institution. Danger of bad health and heavy losses.

53—Good memory, fine intellect. Strongly averse to change, fixed in opinion and difficult to influence. Travel is generally for a definite object rather than pleasure. Scientific and literary. Usually many friends who may bring both benefits and misfortunes.

54—Generally good. Marriage with someone older who is grave, thoughtful, reserved, is likely. The marriage may be delayed; though money or position may be gained through it. The father of one side or the other will either greatly help or hinder the marriage. Fortunate for partnerships, especially with older people, or for connection with companies and associations; though there is danger of loss, death of marriage partner, ill health.

55—Same as 37.

56—Love of mystery. May have presentiments or clairvoyant dreams. Liking for unusual subjects. Many women friends, and among club members. May join any movement for political, scientific or educational work. Independent and unconventional, but desirous of the good opinion of others. Weak constitution and sometimes trouble with the sight.

57—Same as 48.

58—May make a rash, hasty and early marriage. Passionate, falls in love easily and sometimes becomes entangled detrimentally with the opposite sex. Sometimes the marriage is delayed because of an early disappointment. Also liable to rush into rash partnerships. May meet with envy and opposition, open or secret and have troubles through other people; but these are usually caused by one's own fault. Danger of disagreements with friends, relatives and associates, and death of marriage partner.

59—Grave, serious, dignified, ambitious, melancholy. May have strange beliefs and superstitions. Profit through friends and personal influence. Fortunate for public life, money, legacies, favors and benefits from those in better or more authoritative position, for power and popularity. Possibility of great wealth. Tends to bring travel and long journeys. Apt to become involved in the troubles of friends.

60—Excellent intellect; success through brothers and sisters and through writing, study, scientific work, teaching, literature; though possibility of troubles through these sources at times.

61—May marry an artist, or rather bohemian person; great love for the beautiful; for music and painting; much attracted to the opposite sex; usually good fortune; but danger at some period of scandal, broken engagement, and an unfortunate marriage.

PREFACE

The special placing of the name vibration, in connection with the individual birth for each of the twelve months, is absolutely original with the author and can be used by no one in any publication without express permission from Veolia J. and Aelva J. Boyile.

"You are a musical instrument. Your body and the conditions of your life are the result of the harmonies or discords played by you or upon you from day to day, by your personal name." It is merely another more subtle, form of Wireless Telegraphy, and of the action of Sound upon the life.

Business men will find these books invaluable in judging employees, partners, general conditions, etc.

As a health guide they are also of great assistance, as well as in showing the direction where physical, financial or mental danger lies.

They have been written for the benefit of those, who having neither time nor inclination for the deeper study necessary to an understanding of the principles involved in this science, nevertheless wish a method which will guide them by the very shortest cut possible, to its results and benefits.

That it is an absolute exact and accurate science has long passed beyond the possibility of question.

It is the one science which offers a method of at least ameliorating, and a cure, for many of the evils of life.

To those merely seeking amusement they will be found to contain an endless fund of enjoyment.

The definitions given here contain the type of events likely to occur during the life of the individual whose name is being read. Some of them may have already occurred, others will probably be yet to come. If one part of the name shows fortunate indications and another indicates misfortune, then there will be periods when the good fortune will predominate, and other periods when it will seem as if all went wrong.

DIRECTIONS

To use this book follow directions carefully.

The manner of adding the names from the table of letters and numbers as given below is very simple. Any child of ten can learn it in a few moments.

If it is done correctly the accuracy of the reading given for each number will be a never ending source of amusement and fascination to all.

Each letter is to be counted as the number under which it is placed in the table.

Use every name you possess, such as Mary Ann Smith; also your mother's last name, before marriage; and day of month of birth as a number.

Do not add the names together, use each separately.

If one name has a fortunate definition and one unfortunate, the life will partake of each.

The table for addition of names:

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
a	b	c	d	e	f	g	h	i
j	k	l	m	n	d	p	q	r
s	t	u	v	w	x	y	x

Example:

M a r y

$$4+1+9+7=21$$

S m i t h

$$1+4+9+2+8=24 \text{ (Mother's name before marriage)}$$

J a c k s o n

BIRTH

Between March 21st and April 21st.

- 1 or A—Determined and strong-willed. Great power of concentration, quick-witted. May be inclined to be aggressive and rebel against authority. May receive an unexpected legacy. Danger of accidents, falls, gunshot wounds, and explosions. Possible sudden end.
- 2 or B—Fortunate for home life and close attachment to the mother, usually brings gain through her. Friendly, emotional, changeable. Easily influenced by the surroundings and readily falls into the ways of those about one. Many removals and changes of home. Most successful when led by others; though at times may act very independently. Talent for music, painting, poetry or acting. May be very intuitional or psychic. Will probably travel by water, and should live near water. Generally successful in connection with houses, lands, shipping or dealing in liquids. May be jealous. Likely to have trouble with the digestion.
- 3 or C—Financial benefits and many favors through friends. Many friends among opposite sex. Romantic or strange love-affairs and probable trouble through these. May make a late marriage. Unexpected and remarkable occurrences play a part in love matters. Love of pleasure and social life; may join pleasure clubs. Love of the beautiful and talent for music, painting, poetry. Fortunate for gaining money through companies, societies, firms, banks; through friends and associates, and public enterprises. Danger of scandal, loss and extravagance.
- 4 or D—Positive and very fixed. Apt to be aggressive in religious matters, inclined to be skeptical and unorthodox.

Usually opposes the influence of others. May change his opinions rather frequently. Brave, daring and fearless. Independent of other's opinions. Apt to travel considerably, but may meet with dangers while doing so. Apt to be fond of walking, riding and athletics. Liable to have many disputes with relatives. May make money in partnership or associated with someone else. Some of the brothers or sisters may die, and there may be a loss of money or legacy. Danger of secret scandals. Anxiety regarding the health of one's family.

- 5 or E—Sincere, religious, charitable. Love for music and poetry. Successful in partnerships, friendships, or when associated with others. Profit through friends, employes, long and short journeys. May receive legacies from strangers connected with public institutions, hospitals, etc. Generally a happy marriage. At some time in life danger from secret enemies; loss of money through a woman, relatives or friends. Likely to incur the enmity of the clergy.
- 6 or F—Profit through employing others; but may suffer from headaches and ill health.
- 7 or G—Apt to have prophetic dreams and many occult experiences. Much travelling both for pleasure and necessity. Danger of family troubles and public scandals.
- 8 or H—Quiet, good-humored, easy-going, sociable. Successful in mining or geological pursuits. Good memory and mind, but not always quick. Many changes of residence. Fondness for dancing, athletics, music and poetry. More successful in employment or in association with others than when alone. May gain money through lands or houses; in connection with water, through brothers, sisters or close relatives and probably the mother or her side of the family. May be a somnambulist or have charivoyant dreams. Success in dealing with companies or associations. Generally good digestion; though the stomach is easily upset through the nerves.

9 or I—Likely to be a difference in age, worldly position or money between the person and the marriage partner, who may be grave, thoughtful and reserved. One or both may gain money by the marriage. The father of one or the other may strongly influence the marriage either to help or hinder. Position and power is likely to be gained through partnerships, companies or associations. Danger at some period of discord, opposition, ill health, and downfall or death of marriage partner.

10 or J—Restrictions and difficulties connected with the occupation. Capacity for public undertakings, but troubles through servants and employees. Succeed best in partnership or in association with others, especially in chemistry, science and art. May do well in connection with state affairs, but must be careful or will incur public criticism and blame. Danger of trouble with the liver, digestion and bowels.

11 or K—Fortunate for marriage, partnerships and friendships. Much popularity. Fond of music, poetry, art. Life will be strongly influenced by others, and many of its events will be due to this. May make a profitable marriage but be rather fickle in love. Danger of domestic troubles and losses through partnerships.

12 or L—Probably several love-affairs. Constant in the affections. Popular, fond of company, friends, show, amusements. Does not like to be alone or live in a retired way. Likely to benefit through inferiors. Talent for music, painting, poetry or the stage. May gain through speculation or in matters connected with children. Offspring are generally prosperous.

13 or M—Apt to do much inventing, travelling or exploring. May be quick and sharp in speech and manner. Forcible, plain spoken, not always agreeable. Inclined to be sarcastic, fault-finding, critical, jumps to conclusions. Ready speaker and writer. Danger of disputes with brothers, sisters, one of whom may die. Liable to all kinds of quarrels. Possibility of an impediment in the speech. Mind may be somewhat wandering and undecided. Death likely to occur while on a journey or at a distance from home.

14 or N—Highly strung and emotional. Active, self-confident. Fortunate for legacy or money through marriage or partnership. Analytical sometimes aggressive. Liable to lose a child. Danger from water. Death likely to occur through this element or while travelling.

15 or O—Apt to have many friends and benefits from those in higher position. Probable connection with administrative bodies, and public honors.

16 or P—Generally a psychic gift of some kind. Benefits through and close association with the mother; but tends to loss of property, lands or mines. Sympathetic, impressionable, fond of home, but liable to suffer from domestic inharmony and scandal. Many changes of home, and may have psychic experiences in connection with houses.

17 or Q—May lack opportunity and be somewhat vague and inexact, but just, good-humored and magnanimous. The education is liable to be neglected and there may be much suffering through deceit, treachery and underhand acts. Fond of mysteries and secret societies. Talent for detective work. Under certain circumstances can plan and plot quietly and subtly; and act with great diplomacy and caution. Talent for speaking, writing, singing, music. Make an excellent clerk or secretary. May be connected with nursing, medicine, prisons or hospitals; but almost sure to have much unpleasantness in regard to it. Danger of libel, scandal, forgery, theft of important papers; loss through brothers, sisters, servants; also from travelling by water.

18 or R—Ambitious, fond of power and position, and apt to attain some prominence. Tends to give more success in age than youth. Diplomatic and talent for organizing. Can plan and arrange, but is somewhat suspicious of others. Self-confident, but at times may be somewhat gloomy and like retired places. Apt to be rather stubborn and selfish. Wide range of acquaintances, but few intimate friends. Tends to coarsen the nature and make the person irritable. Honor or dishonor through marriage; and gain or loss through relatives. Liable to have a jealous marriage partner and suffer from poverty through marriage. Apt to cause his own fate. May succeed through companies, societies, associations, firms. May be closely associated with the father either for good or evil. There is sometimes a tendency to suicide; and journeys are apt to be few and dangerous.

19 or S—May be fickle or suffer from fickleness; apt to have trouble in the family life, especially in youth. Trouble is liable to come through the father and offspring. May be successful in public or professional life but there are likely to be sudden losses, and much annoyances socially or through children.

20 or T—Fond of ease and comfort and likely to have a fortunate home life. Apt to be much attached to the family, especially the mother. Many changes of residence. Excellent mimic; talent for acting, music, painting, poetry. Fond of water, will probably live near it. May deal in liquids; and is likely to be successful with houses, lands and shipping. Money through the parents and probable comfort at close of life.

21 or U—Benefits through quiet, obscure work. Very emotional with intense love of the beautiful; fond of music and painting. May marry below his station, or make a secret marriage. Cheerful, fond of society, peaceful, easy-going and may be indolent. May benefit through charity, friends and acquaintances, painting, music. At times may have heavy financial losses, and find it difficult to earn. May also suffer through fraud, deceit and one's own actions. Secret enemies may upset love affairs or marriage, bringing about separation and divorce. May not always be over scrupulous in methods of obtaining money.

22 or V—Quiet, persistent, determined, not easily thwarted, May gain money through connection with liquids and traveling; also through the mother or wife. Hopeful, ambitious, conservative, does not like change. Gains friends and is generally fortunate in acquiring money, houses lands, and through investments generally. More successful when under some one. Probably inherit money and perhaps a business from a parent; may become involved in secret affairs or a mystery, but will generally derive financial benefits through it. Should live near water or on the coast. Fond of singing, music, painting, and social life. May be obstinate and unforgiving if once injured; but good-natured as a general thing.

Also likely to be troubles through brothers, sisters, letters, writing, journeys. Money through the family.

32—Generous, candid, good-natured, tactful, high-minded. Fond of science, literature, study. Ships, traveling, horses, horse racing and amusement enterprises may all play a large part in the life. Apt to be fortunate financially, but this will be largely owing to personal effort. ambitious; generally harmonious family relations. Fortunate through marriage, travel in foreign lands; probably gain through relatives. Danger, however, of losing money and at some time finding it hard to make a living. May come to want though may be one's own fault. Possible heroic death.

33—Will probably travel in foreign lands and meet with success in law, religion, philosophical matters, or publishing.

- 34—Strong imagination and great love of beauty and elegance. Likely to marry an artist, or someone with bohemian tendencies. A person of bohemian tastes is indicated here. Talent for music and painting. Popular; much attracted by opposite sex. Danger of broken engagement, unfortunate marriage, fickleness and scandal.
- 35—Kind-hearted, easy-going, self-indulgent, but apt to be very positive. Fortunate for teachers, singers, writers, artists, actors, capable of managing and controlling others and generally attains a prominent position. Money through business enterprises, designing, interior decoration; will probably make many journeys on account of business and the profession. Fond of children. Danger of slander from employees or those in higher position; from weakness of heart or bowels and from drugs.
- 36—Firm, persistent, strong willed. Probably money through the father, careful management, economy, though there is much danger of falling into poverty. Apt to be selfish. Likelihood of trouble through treachery, relatives and children. Sickness from foreign travel. Strange domestic experiences. Death of husband or wife.
- 37—Ingenious, original, eccentric ideas; fond of unusual subjects, science, travel and exploration. Apt to espouse unpopular causes. Danger of troubles with educational matters, through brothers, sisters, examinations, disobedience, unconventionality, accidents while traveling.
- 38—Intellectual; learns easily, good memory. Favors working in movements for the lower classes, and occupations where many people are employed or employing many people. Fitted for employer, manager, agent or businesses connected with food, farmer, miller, grocer, doctor, herbalist. Probably make many long journeys. Retiring yet may be somewhat boastful, quiet, easy-going, unambitious. Many friends, especially among women. Good teacher, clerk, secretary, traveler in connection with a company or association.

39—Same as 3.

40—Same as 4.

41—Sincere, generous, ambitious; fond of power, display, dignity, grandeur. Successful and fortunate through offspring. Many friends and much social popularity. Excellent leader, with the ability to direct and control others. Gain through church work, educational pursuits, amusements, sporting matters, the stage. Not apt to travel frequently, but one long voyage is likely, more because of necessity than pleasure. Strong love for ceremony. Apt to have good vitality and strong constitution.

42—Success in secluded occupations. Fond of mysteries. Danger of loss, prosecution, isolation, secret enemies.

43—Highly emotional with a great love of luxury and new sensations. Generally fortunate for money through marriage or business partners, and a possible legacy.

44—Slow in making up the mind; but very determined when once a decision is arrived at. Success in writing, teaching, through brothers, sisters, traveling. Fond of study, patient, persevering; fond of money and what it will buy, Sociable, friendly; more successful financially when in association with others. Likely to be irritable at times.

45—Strong, fine intellect. Likely to acquire power and authority. Favors and benefits from those above one; and probable legacies and gifts. Suffering through the enmity of inferiors; treachery and hatred from servants and employees. Not especially strong. Partners sometimes turn into opponents. Danger from crowds, infection and overwork.

- 46—Positive, forceful, impulsive, original, bohemian, hasty in speech and at times rather brusque manner; inventive. Very outspoken and sometimes rather lacking in tact, so may offend without intention. Estrangements, strange occurrences and fluctuating circumstances are likely. Fond of freedom; energy, resource. Disputes and abrupt breaking of family ties or friendships often take place.
- 47—Legacies through women and money through marriage or partnership, generally go with this and the nature is firm, self-reliant, determined; plain spoken, abrupt, energetic, capable of making one's own way without help. Do not like change though may themselves cause many changes, even violent ones. Sometimes these natures are easily angered and become revengeful. May be somewhat coarse in manner and there is possible danger from drink. Apt to be placed as executors or administrators or otherwise brought into connection with the dead, or take up some occupation connected with the dead. Loss and disputes concerning wills or legacies are likely. Danger of death by drowning, through liquids, or from crowds.
- 48—Fond of love and admiration, and very easily influenced through the opposite sex. Generally good health and popularity, makes friends easily. Inclined to an early, sometimes a hasty marriage. Talent for music, poetry or painting though rather lacking in application. Fond of fine clothes and show. Generous and ready to spend. Probable losses which are due to one's own fault.
- 49—Same as 13.
- 50—Fortunate for money, especially from matters connected with religion, philosophy, learning of some kind, ships, voyages, horses. Good generally for the financial matters. May also profit through friends or family, land, farming or food; generous but very fond of money. Danger at times of losses through land; and sorrow through relatives; but generally a pleasant home-life.

51—Same as 42.

52—Fortunate for friendship, love and marriage and general popularity; though the person is very emotional and is also liable to loss or scandal through these. Sociable, buoyant, sympathetic, psychic.

53—Apt to bring success, prominence or even fame. Many changes of occupation; cautious, diplomatic, subtle and deep. Ambitious; strong influence over others and can turn them to his own ends. Apt to gain prizes both in school and outside. Apt to make many short journeys; and may obtain a post with the government.

54—Able to control those under him. Critical, analytical, orderly, serious, original. Excellently fitted for manager or official position. May be inclined to be somewhat melancholy or gloomy, and reserved. There are likely to be disappointments and troubles connected with the occupation, loss through employees, and ill health, or because of the father. May suffer from liver, stomach and bowels, and take cold easily. There may be a strange or romantic courtship; though the person is somewhat disinclined to marry, and is apt to have domestic difficulties when marriage occurs. Possible headaches and risk of mental troubles.

55—Same as 37.

56—Public prominence which may be either popularity or notoriety. Many changes in occupations. May be at the head of some large undertaking, because of executive ability, and circumstances from which may come both pleasure and much difficulty. Apt to be selfish, cautious and calculating. Apt to do considerable traveling and receive help through women.

57—Same as 48.

58—Energetic; apt to be most successful when in the employ of others, or connected with others in some manner. Sometimes very ambitious but liable to have opposition, difficulties and reversals. Troubles with servants and employees. May be underhanded. Likely to connect with businesses dealing in medicines, drugs or foods. Nervous and bowel troubles are likely. ## PREFACE

The special placing of the name vibration, in connection with the individual birth for each of the twelve months, is absolutely original with the author and can be used by no one in any publication without express permission from Veolia J. and Aelva J. Boyile.

"You are a musical instrument. Your body and the conditions of your life are the result of the harmonies or discords played by you or upon you from day to day, by your personal name." It is merely another more subtle, form of Wireless Telegraphy, and of the action of Sound upon the life.

Business men will find these books invaluable in judging employees, partners, general conditions, etc.

As a health guide they are also of great assistance, as well as in showing the direction where physical, financial or mental danger lies.

They have been written for the benefit of those, who having neither time nor inclination for the deeper study necessary to an understanding of the principles involved in this science, nevertheless wish a method which will guide them by the very shortest cut possible, to its results and benefits.

That it is an absolute exact and accurate science, has long passed beyond the possibility of question.

It is the one science which offers a method of at least ameliorating, and a cure, for many of the evils of life.

To those merely seeking amusement they will be found to contain an endless fund of enjoyment.

The definitions given here contain the type of events likely to occur during the life of the individual whose name is being read. Some of them may have already occurred, others will probably be yet to come. If one part of the name shows fortunate indications and another indicates misfortune, then there will be periods when the good fortune will predominate, and other periods when it will seem as if all went wrong.

DIRECTIONS

To use this book follow directions carefully.

The manner of adding the names from the table of letters and numbers as given below is very simple. Any child of ten can learn it in a few moments.

If it is done correctly the accuracy of the reading given for each number will be a never ending source of amusement and fascination to all.

Each letter is to be counted as the number under which it is placed in the table.

Use every name you possess, such as Mary Ann Smith; also your mother's last name, before marriage; and day of month of birth as a number.

Do not add the names together, use each separately.

If one name has a fortunate definition and one unfortunate, the life will partake of each.

The table for addition of names:

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
a	b	c	d	e	f	g	h	i
j	k	l	m	n	o	p	q	r
s	t	u	v	w	x	y	x

Example:

M a r y

$$4+1+9+7=21$$

S m i t h

$$1+4+9+2+8=24 \text{ (Mother's name before marriage)}$$

J a c k s o n

$$1+1+3+2+1+6+5=19. \text{ Day of month of birth } 14.$$

BIRTH

Between April 21st and May 21st.

- 1 or A—An impulsive marriage is likely to bring trouble, with separation and divorce. Difficulties are also likely through partnerships and acquaintances. Apt to have broken friendships, and suffer from rivalry and criticism. Artistic and literary works likely to succeed, and will probably be brought into the life.
- 2 or B—Frequent journeys are likely and success through brothers and sisters. There is usually a great love of books, and scientific and literary occupations. Very active; probably many changes of residence; or may have more than one home. Apt to be out of doors a great deal and do much walking or riding, or calling on people. Quick witted. Skillful with hands and arms. Able to live by the wits, and sometimes obliged to. May be a salesman writer, speaker, clerk, artist, or sculptor. Will probably have more than one occupation or change from one to another. There is danger of being deceitful, subtle or underhanded, lacking in perserverence and changeable.
- 3 or C—Apt to give general success in life; to render one popular and bring favors from friends or influential people. Tends to bring a position of responsibility and profit. Usually a brilliant marriage. Love of poetry and art; but also success through busness, investments, stocks, banking; also through public enterprises and in control of others. Dealing in precious stones is also likely to be successful. May have the marriage delayed because of one cause or another. May benefit more through one parent; probably the father.

4 or D—Firm, positive, determined, practical, able to work hard. May receive a legacy or money through marriage or business partner; but there is also apt to be loss through extravagance; and there is possible danger of death by accident.

5 or E—Apt to be rather materialistic in religious matters; critical, analytical, hesitating. May benefit through subordinates, though there is danger of misfortune through a subordinate or when occupying a subordinate position. May be absent-minded and somewhat wanting in application. Possibility of liver, digestive or bowel troubles.

6 or F—Probably many friends in good positions. Success in public career, marriage and partnerships; though there is also danger of influential enemies.

7 or G—Very emotional, and fond of new sensations and luxury. Apt to be fortunate for money through marriage, partnership or a legacy; but also danger of loss.

8 or H—Apt to be positive and obstinate and given to espousing causes of various kinds whether right or wrong. Generally a good speaker both witty, sarcastic and brilliant; but rather unreliable. Clever with the hands, ingenious, fond of mysteries. Successful chemist, detective, surgeon. Probably able to heal and control by the will. May travel considerably; but danger may come through this. May lose brother, sister, or relative, which will strongly affect the life. The temper may be rather uncertain.

- 9 or I—Makes an excellent manager, with ability for controlling others. Serious, analytical, original with a possible tendency to melancholy or reserve. Apt to meet with disappointments or difficulties in the occupation. Danger of ill health and of trouble through the father. Profit through foreigners is likely; also through investments. Not inclined to marry, but apt to have a romantic or unusual courtship, with later marital troubles. Travels principally for health or business. May suffer from headaches; and there is a possible danger of mental troubles.
- 10 or J—Favorable for a public or professional career; but apt to bring troubles in the domestic life, especially in youth difficulties through the father and through children are also likely, as well as social obstacles and losses through speculation.
- 11 or K—Learns easily and has a good memory and intellect which fits the person for many occupations. Nearly always successful in connection with food; farmer, grocer, confectioner; or with drugs and medicines. Usually strong feelings either for the masses or against them. An excellent manager of people; and tends to success through employees. Likely to make long journeys, critical, adaptable.
- 12 or L—Love of family life and usually a special attachment to one of the parents. Affectionate, imaginative, kind; rather unfortunate for love matters, as well as financial affairs and for partnerships of any kind; though profit from a subordinate position or through employees is likely. The father of the person, or of the marriage partner is likely to help or hinder the marriage in some special way. Money may be made in connection with the water, houses and land, or in some rather obscure position.

- 13 or M—Money through hard work, marriage or legacies. Nature determined and obstinate. Good manager, but may be irritable and have a bad temper. Subject as a general thing to heavy expenses and seldom able to accumulate. May lose money and be in straitened circumstances at various times. Danger of opposition from powerful people, tragic experiences through love and marriage and peculiar offspring.
- 14 or N—Religious, sincere, imaginative, and possible talent for poetry and music. Fond of association with others and may be popular with friends. Generally fortunate for marriage and partnerships. Benefits may occur through persons connected with law or religion. May marry a foreigner or someone from a distance. Profit may come through marriage, friends, servants, partners, journeys or through legacies from strangers. May be brought into connection with hospitals or public institutions. Danger of trouble through open or secret enemies and from the opposition or treachery of friends. May give or be obliged to take, charity, and may incur the enmity of the clergy.
- 15 or O—Likely to bring a public career, prominence, authority and ambition. Gives the good will of those in higher position. Success through the father or husband.
- 16 or P—Strong imagination and may have prophetic dreams; probably considerable travel, especially by water. Harmonious relations with family.
- 17 or Q—Good memory and intellect. Literary and scientific acquaintance. Apt to have fixed opinions which cannot be easily changed. Original and hard worker. Fluent speaker.

18 or R—Generally unfortunate in regard to the occupation, reputation, popularity or public position. May suffer through all of these; loss of money, false friends and possible prosecution. If in a high position likely to be attacked by inferiors and suffer a down fall. There may also be trouble through, or because of the father, hostility separation or financial difficulties. Succeeds best in some obscure quiet occupation. May be brought into contact with, or gain money through hospitals, charitable institutions, secret employments. Apt to meet with much undeserved and unaccountable misfortunes.

19 or S—Very sensitive and emotional. Love of the strange and mysterious, which grows stronger with advancing years. Liable to have trouble in domestic life and probable estrangement, private and public annoyances; many changes of residence; probable loss through houses, land and the dwelling place. Probably travel and prophetic dreams or other occult experiences.

20 or T—Same as 2.

21 or U—Many friends and acquaintances and benefits through them. Social popularity and frequent love affairs which have strange or remarkable events connected with them. Talent for music, poetry or painting. May marry towards middle age or still later in life. Money likely to be gained through partnerships, companies and banking; fond of pleasures.

22 or V—Impulsive; sometimes aggressive or militant, and may have a bad temper, or be subject to fits of anger. Tends to bring public life. Apt to insist on one's own way. May be disobedient and self-willed, volatile and changeable. Unconventional. May be placed in a position of authority or become prominent in some line. The mother will probably play a prominent part in the life, which may be either good or bad. There may be differences with the parents or an early separation from them. Some reason for secrecy in the life or occupation may arise; and danger of scandal.

23 or W—Courteous, thrustworthy, honest, generally socially successful; interested in business, commerce, speculation; fond of travel and novelty; and may be wanting in perseverance. Sympathetic, hopeful, cheerful. Tends to intellect, study and literary talent. May be somewhat changeable in his views. May make two marriages, one with a relative or close friend; but likely to have trouble through fickleness, letters, travel or relatives. Sometimes trouble in connection with the parents, brothers or sisters; differences or estrangements. May have prophetic dreams.

24 or X—Same as 15.

25 or Y—Fortunate for love, marriage and friendships, through there is also danger of trouble or scandal through these at some time. Highly emotional. Apt to have friends among artists, musicians, mystics. Probably has presentiments. Sociable and sympathetic.

26 or Z—Talent for literature, but sometimes more successful in business lines. Scientific and fond of study, but also practical. Apt to try too many things at once. Difficulties in acquiring publicity in literary lines or speaking. May write on occult subjects, or choose some forgotten or unpopular matter. Danger of trouble with digestion, liver and bowels, through nerves and overwork.

27—Gives ambition, power, strength of will, independence, authority; but often makes the person very selfish, or brings loneliness and isolation; success through hard work. Generally, however, brings much misfortune in financial affairs and in the occupation. Sometimes may make the person melancholy, despondent, gloomy. Danger of dishonor, loss, early death of one parent. May be treacherous to friends, lose through speculation, be opposed to marriage, or in case of marriage, domestic difficulties. Might become seriously entangled with an inferior of opposite sex.

28—Fluctuating fortunes, much inventiveness, inclined to bohemianism. Positive, forceful, impulsive, brusque in speech and manner and sometimes lacking in tact. Energetic, resourceful. Strange occurrences; sudden estrangements; quick changes. Disputes.

29—Active, fond of outdoor life and travel. Restless, unsettled, quick nervous manner. Many changes of residence, good humored, kind, honorable, sincerely religious. Natural reformer and teacher. Talent for music or poetry and deep in philosophy and religious matters. Many travels and voyages. May be clairvoyant or a somnambulist. May become connected with amusement, enterprises, shipping and horses. Nervous, outspoken, and may have a rather queer feeling about having anyone enter one's private room while absent.

30—Determined, decided, positive. Money may be gained through marriage, friends, the public. The marriage is, however, likely to be delayed because of money, death or separation. One or the other may be unyielding. Generally fortunate in financial matters. Money may be gained through legacy, partnership or marriage. Pleasure, luxury and amusement are likely to be in the life. Generally a good voice.

31—Obstinate, fixed and positive; generally disagreement with the parents; or the early death of one. Militant, aggressive, sceptical, active. May change his opinions many times during life. Executive ability and generally success in law. Brave, fearless, daring, morally and mentally: but generally a quick temper and apt to get into disputes with those in authority, and incur opposition, enmity and criticism. Loses many friends; some by his own actions, others through death and separation. Apt to be tyrannical and very anxious to lead and dictate. Possible danger while traveling. Death may occur directly or indirectly through a friend. Disputes with relatives.

32—Most fortunate and successful in connection with charitable or religious work, hospitals, institutions, secret service. Especially good for doctors and nurses. Quiet, unassuming, sociable, easily influenced. May be restless at times; and very easy-going and perhaps indolent at others. Fond of mysteries; good lawyer. Hospitable, fond of animals. May profit through hotel or boarding house, relatives, mining, companies. May marry an inferior. Apt to make rather risky investments.

33—Generally considerable travel. Success and honor in law, religion, philosophy and publishing. Journeys to foreign countries. Persevering.

34—Success in nursing or medicine. May have a strong talent for art or poetry. Probable losses through the treachery and deceit of employees; and difficulties through the occupation. May succeed in psychic matters. Possible trouble with stomach and bowels.

35—Changeable, good-natured, sociable. Successful in lines connected with geology, mining, land or water and through relatives and the mother's side of the family in particular. Good memory. May be fond of athletics, dancing, music and poetry. Probably considerable travel especially by water. Does better work with a partner or associate. Many changes of residence. May have strange dreams or be a somnambulist.

36—Diplomatic, distrustful, secretive, ambitious, love of power and high position. Can influence and manage others, plan, organize and scheme. Domestic and marital troubles. Self-confident, assured, somewhat gloomy and fond of retirement. Gain or loss through relatives. Jealous marriage partner. Somewhat selfish and coarse; liable to be irritable or even bad tempered. May succeed through companies, associations, societies; but may suffer through self made troubles. Not fortunate for parents; may be much influenced by the father, fortunately or otherwise. Friends are usually at a distance from home; and are made more through letters and journeys, than through personal effort, or at home. Tendency to suicide. May be brought to poverty by marriage. Journeys may be dangerous.

37—Sudden losses and involved affairs, but generally able to overcome obstacles and extricate oneself by ingenuity and resource. Sometimes money through unexpected happenings, a new undertaking, partnerships, marriage or association.

38—Generally successful in speculation. Tends to bring a position of responsibility and prominence, giving authority over others as manager or leader. Falls in love easily. Fond of pleasure and comfort, but ambitious. Honorable, generous with money, high-minded. Fond of music, poetry, painting, clothes and ornaments. Often brings favor from those of greater influence or higher position. Good organizer, plain spoken, nervous.

39—Same as 3.

40—Same as 4.

41—Gains through houses, lands and home. Good-natured benevolent, charitable, religious, somewhat yielding and changeable. Intuitive, imaginative, fond of poetry, music or the fine arts and of mysteries and marvels. Beneficial in nearly every way. Fond of home and parents, especially the mother. Travels by water and some danger in this direction; though probably not serious. Money from the mother or her side of the family. Death will probably occur at a distance from home.

42—Many friends; satisfied ambition; benefits from those in higher position. Probable gain of public honors; and connection with administrative or governmental bodies.

43—Very emotional. Strong love of beauty and art coupled with imagination, and a talent for music and painting. May marry an artist or bohemian. Much attracted by the opposite sex. Very popular and usually successful. Danger of broken engagement, unhappy marriage, scandal.

44—Apt writer and speaker, witty, brilliant, observant; sarcastic when angry, enthusiastic when interested. Business ability is good as is also literary talent. Will probably write short stories and have many literary friends. Apt to exaggerate; very original and inventive. Danger of trouble to the head or bowels; fevers and accidents. Probably many short journeys.

45—Very apt to be unfortunate. Losses through land and houses; and of honor, wealth, possessions. Troubles in business, and occupation. Early death of father and estrangement from parents. Poverty and financial troubles are likely. Marriage partner may rise through merit; but marriage may be unhappy. Danger of death by drowning or in a foreign land.

46—Positive, forceful, impulsive, original. bohemian, inventive; and sometimes hasty and brusque. Strange events, sudden estrangements. Often gives offense without intending it; because of being too outspoken and somewhat lacking in tact. Full of energy, mental vigor and resource. Sometimes disputes and estrangements.

- 47—A legacy through the mother or women is likely. The character is firm, self-reliant, well able to stand alone; abrupt, out spoken, energetic, capable of hard work. Money may also be gained through partnerships or marriage. Very averse to change; but may bring about great changes. Sometimes bad temperd and revengeful. Danger from drugs or drinking. Apt to have happy family connections, friendly relatives and foreign travel. Profit through enemies. Possible heroic death.

51—Same as 42.

52—Troubles through the father and family in early life are likely; but fortunate generally in regard to financial matters. Talent for art, music and psychic matters and success through any of these lines, or in large businesses.

53—Fluent speaker, just, sincere, active mind. Talent for medicine, scientific lines and literary work. May study several subjects at once and have more than one occupation. May write on rather deep subjects in an involved way not easily understood. May make many journeys; but may suffer from illness while traveling. Possibility of trouble through educational matters, letters, writing, family or journeys. May gain through drugs, medicines, food.

54—Gives good position in life with power and authority. Enterprising, determined, fine intellect. Favors from those in high position are likely; but suffering treachery, and dislike, through and from employees. May be selfish and have trouble and scandal through love affairs. Partners may become opponents. Separation from the father may occur or his early death. Father may strongly influence a love affair by either help or hindrance. Danger from crowds, infection, overwork and heart disease.

55—Same as 37.

56—Many changes of abode; many travels. Queer psychic experiences; restless and unsettled. Walks quickly. Natural teacher and public speaker. Strong talent for religious work, music, poetry or philosophy. May gain through amusement enterprise, ships, horses and employees. Likely to be a somnambulist or have clairvoyant dreams. Possible danger while traveling.

57—Same as 48.

- 58—Sincere and generous. Particularly adapted for school management, and research work. Very honorable will never stoop to meanness; active, hard worker; but may have a quick temper and aggressive manner and so make enemies. Excellent for directing and controlling others. Highly emotional and sometimes too enthusiastic. May have social troubles and disputes; annoyances from children; possible loss of a child and of many friends by death. Strong love of pleasure. Foolish love affairs. May have a special disappointment in love.
- 59—Self-confident, active. Fortunate for inheritance, and money by marriage or partnership. Sometimes this may be only a small sum. Persevering, generous, fond of mysteries; very analytical; might succeed in any line where pulling down and reconstructing are some of the features, either in a mental or material way. Death of one child likely. There may be profit through law, public investments, mining societies. May be entrusted with many odd secrets and involved in peculiar intrigues. Strange adventures and voyages are likely, notoriety through children and possible death by drowning or in some tragic manner, caused by social or political connections.
- 60—Financial success. Generally money through the father or son. Apt to be extravagant or have large expenditures.
- 61—Strong feelings, very affectionate. Talent for art and music. Sociable, fond of amusements. Generous. Danger of trouble through off-spring and love affairs.

PREFACE

The special placing of the name vibration, in connection with the individual birth for each of the twelve months, is absolutely original with the author and can be used by no one in any publication without express permission from Veolia J. and Aelva J. Boyle.

"You are a musical instrument. Your body and the conditions of your life are the result of the harmonies or discords played by you or upon you from day to day, by your personal name." It is merely another more subtle, form of Wireless Telegraphy, and of the action of Sound upon the life.

Business men will find these books invaluable in judging employees, partners, general conditions, etc.

As a health guide they are also of great assistance, as well as in showing the direction where physical, financial or mental danger lies.

They have been written for the benefit of those, who having neither time nor inclination for the deeper study necessary to an understanding of the principles involved in this science, nevertheless wish a method which will guide them by the very shortest cut possible, to its results and benefits.

That it is an absolute exact and accurate science, has long passed beyond the possibility of question.

It is the one science which offers a method of at least ameliorating, and a cure, for many of the evils of life.

To those merely seeking amusement they will be found to contain an endless fund of enjoyment.

The definitions given here contain the type of events likely to occur during the life of the individual whose name is being read. Some of them may have already occurred, others will probably be yet to come. If one part of the name shows fortunate indications and another indicates misfortune, then there will be periods when the good fortune will predominate, and other periods when it will seem as if all went wrong.

DIRECTIONS

To use this book follow directions carefully.

The manner of adding the names from the table of letters and numbers as given below is very simple. Any child of ten can learn it in a few moments.

If it is done correctly the accuracy of the reading given for each number will be a never ending source of amusement and fascination to all.

Each letter is to be counted as the number under which it is placed in the table.

Use every name you possess, such as Mary Ann Smith; also your mother's last name, before marriage; and day of month of birth as a number.

Do not add the names together, use each separately.

If one name has a fortunate definition and one unfortunate, the life will partake of each.

The table for addition of names:

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
a	b	c	d	e	f	g	h	i
j	k	l	m	n	o	p	q	r
s	t	u	v	w	x	y	x

Example:

M a r y

$$4+1+9+7=21$$

S m i t h

$$1+4+9+2+8=24 \text{ (Mother's name before marriage)}$$

J a c k s o n

- 30—Intensely strong love nature. Great love of beauty. Very much attracted by the opposite sex. Tends to bring many love affairs and an early or hasty marriage, though on the other hand, there is danger of many obstacles to marriage. Talent for music, poetry or painting, but sometimes not much application in this direction. Extravagant, or the expenses are heavy. Love of admiration. Danger of financial losses.

31—Generally money through marriage, and a romantic courtship. Executive ability and power. Firm, determined, positive. Rather lacking in regard for the feelings of others. Tends to selfishness. There may be trouble with the health in early life, fevers, surgical operations or accident; though the strength and vitality increase with age as a rule. Gain of money and legacies through association with others. Danger of long confining illness, imprisonment or restraint in some form and of a sudden death. May have a bad temper.

32—Especially fortunate for having good and faithful friends, pleasure and benefits through them. Broad-minded and sympathetic; but superstitious, and given to rather odd beliefs, and fond of the study of strange or unusual subjects. Scientific, musical, poetic, etc. Fortunate for connection with societies and associations of various sorts.

33—Particularly good for marriage and partnership. Legacy, honor and profit through these. Early death of father is liable. Danger of one's own death about middle life; or of the husband.

34—Very sensitive, probably too much so. Very affectionate. Talent for music and art. Fond of social life, sports and amusements. Very generous and hospitable. Danger of scandal through love affairs or offspring. The brothers and sisters play a large part in the life, and there is probably much traveling. Love for reading and study of many subjects. May have two occupations at once or make quick changes. Brilliant, but changeable.

36—Very unfortunate. Bad for reputation, position, friends. Hostility, money troubles, downfall, secret enemies. False friends. Attacks from inferiors. Sometimes troubles through the father, separation, disputes. The father may also experience misfortunes of many kinds. Money may sometimes be made through connection with asylums, charitable institutions, hospitals, prisons, or through some secret or low class occupation. Love affairs which may be romantic, but end badly. Marriage partner may have ill-health. Tendency to suicide.

37—Inventive ability and bohemian tastes. Positive, forceful, brusque and hasty in speech; contrary. Fluctuating affairs. Life full of strange occurrences; abruptly severed friendships and ties. Many estrangements. Great love of freedom and independence. Energetic, resourceful, strong mentality. Dislike of conventionality. Sometimes love of show.

38—Very fond of home and family; and generally much attached to the mother. Friendly, sociable, emotional, changeable. Money through the parents is likely. Many changes of residence. Very sensitive to outside influences; and falls easily into the ways of others. May be an excellent mimic, and have a talent for music, painting and poetry. Love for water; and should live near it. Success in connection with liquids, houses, lands, shipping. May have queer psychic experiences; and digestive troubles probably brought on through nervousness. Good organizer. May be very out spoken and make rather blunt remarks.

39—Same as 3.

40—Same as 4.

41—Tends to bring social success, business and speculation. Makes the person courteous, truthful, and honorable. Restless, changeable. Love for travel and novelty. Good intellect and love of study. Hopeful, cheerful. Benefits from friends in high position. Likely to marry a relative or close friend and will probably make two marriages. Likely to be difficulties through letters, relatives or travel, and disputes with family. Not apt to be fortunate for dealing in lands or houses.

42—Tends to success through the father or, if a woman, the husband. Ambitious, independent, love of power. May bring a public and prominent career.

43—Most successful through lines connected with medicine, nursing or clerical work; and probable talent for art and poetry. Danger from treachery and dishonesty of servants and of troubles through the employment.

44—Good-natured and just; but likely to suffer through treachery and deceit, lack of opportunity and trouble in regard to education. Love of mysteries, talent for secret service work. Analytical, good at planning and writing mysteries. Might also win fame through singing, music, speaking or writing. Work as clerk or secretary may likewise be successful. May become connected with nursing, medicine, hospitals or prisons; but this will be more fortunate if in association with someone else or a number of others. Trouble with brothers and sisters may occur.

45—Thoughtful, serious. Apt to have many difficulties in early life, especially in regard to education, clerical and literary work, brothers, sisters, journeys. Strong intellect and character, and ability for invention and scientific work. Gain through traveling and educational matters. Danger of false imprisonment through treachery or domestic difficulties. Deceitful relatives and inferiors may play a large part in the life and bring public dishonor; may marry abroad, or a foreigner. Should never go into law. Suffering from self deception. Possibility of a violent death.

46—Love of mysteries; high ideals but discontented nature. May be very psychic and have a deep interest in such matters, but probable trouble through these lines; many estrangements from friends, reverses and other misfortunes, including probable danger to the reputation.

47—May be connected with businesses where many people are employed; good memory and intellect, learns easily. Fond of studying hygienic matters. Makes a good employee, manager, clerk, or succeeds as farmer, grocer, confectioner, druggist, herbalist, doctor. Quiet, easy-going unambitious. Many friends especially among women. Good traveler or teacher; or may connect with companies, societies or associations, especially amusement enterprises.

48—Pleasure and benefits through friends, financially and otherwise. Many love affairs and possibly involved or strange intrigues which bring numerous troubles. Sudden and unexpected events. Talent for music, poetry, or painting. Fond of pleasure and likely to join social societies. May marry more than once; one marriage may be in middle life or later. Generally favorable for money through partnerships, companies, firms, investments, banking. Danger of loss through extravagance, and scandal through friends.

49—Same as 13.

50—Sociable, unassuming, changeable, easily influenced. May be somewhat indolent and lacking in initiative, but restless unsettled and vacillating. Best success lies in religious or charitable work in connection with hospitals, secret societies, asylums, etc. Fortunate as physician or nurse. Fond of mysteries, emotional, strong imagination and may be a good detective, lawyer or writer of mystery tales.

51—Same as 42.

52—May do a great deal of traveling for business or pleasure. Much stopping of one matter and beginning a new one. May be very psychic and have prophetic dreams or presentments. Possible leaning to art, science in general, or chemistry.

- 53—Quick to resent a real or imaginary wrong. Active physically and mentally, witty, sarcastic, positive, obstinate, hard to convince. Ingenious, resourceful, practical inventive. Likely to receive a legacy and to lose a brother, sister, relative or close friend by death; to have troubles through wills, financial matters, marriage or business partner, and consequent litigation. Fluent talker, fond of mysteries and investigation. May be a metal worker, detective, surgeon, chemist. Can control others by the will. There may be danger while traveling, especially by water. Temper may be uncertain.
- 54—Likely to have many losses, including the death of the father early in life. Unfortunate for money, property, position, reputation. May be estranged from the parents. Bad for marriage.
- 55—Same as 37.
- 56—Self-reliant, firm, determined; can make one's own way without help. Money through the mother or through females. Positive, energetic, plain-spoken, hard worker. Gain is likely through marriage or partnership. Death of a child may occur. May advocate violent changes, but oppose change through others. May be irritable and perhaps bad-tempered. Likely to act as executor or administrator several times, and have much disputing over wills and legacies. If a woman, the marriage may be unhappy. Danger of death through liquids, by drowning or through mobs.
- 57—Same as 48.
- 58—May have an uncertain temper, brood over fancied insults and be revengeful. Changeable and not straightforward. Likely to lose the mother early in life and have a grumbling or unhappy marriage partner. May separate from the mother or have a disagreement with her. Likely to inherit houses and land; but may lose them. Probably many changes of residence and may have many accidents to the dwelling places, fire, flood, earthquake, theft, etc. May suffer from fevers, accidents to the body, digestive troubles. Danger of death through water.

59—Success through marriage and business partners, and general popularity. Religious, fond of mysteries, poetical. May benefit through persons connected with law and religion. Many successful or pleasant journeys are likely. May marry a foreigner or someone from a distance. Danger from enemies, known or unknown; loss of money through a woman, relatives or friends. Legacies from strangers are not unlikely.

60—Success in secluded, quiet or hidden occupations. Danger of prosecution, loss, isolation and secret enemies.

61—May be closely associated with the mother and benefit considerably through her. Fond of home life and very impressionable; extremely psychic, and may have some strange experiences in regard to houses. Many changes of residence. Danger of domestic quarrels, scandal and loss of property.

62—Same as 53.

63—Same as 45.

DIRECTIONS

To use this book follow directions carefully.

The manner of adding the names from the table of letters and numbers as given below is very simple. Any child of ten can learn it in a few moments.

If it is done correctly the accuracy of the reading given for each number will be a never ending source of amusement and fascination to all.

Each letter is to be counted as the number under which it is placed in the table.

Use every name you possess, such as Mary Ann Smith; also your mother's last name, before marriage; and day of month of birth as a number.

Do not add the names together, use each separately.

If one name has a fortunate definition and one unfortunate, the life will partake of each.

The table for addition of names:

BIRTH

Between June 21st and July 21st.

1 or A—Likely to have many troubles and much family discord, particularly in early life. May lose through speculation and have difficulties through the father and offspring. Great love of freedom and independence. Likely to be rebellious, unconventional and changeable and have trouble through the changeability of others. May be brought into public life and succeed in a general way; but will probably have many hindrances and annoyances of various kinds.

2 or B—Apt to be aggressive, obstinate, disobedient, and given to outbursts of anger. Very changeable, acting largely upon impulse. Will probably attain prominence and be placed at the head of some undertaking. There are apt to be disagreements with the parents and a possible separation by death or otherwise. The life will be strongly influenced by the mother, either for good or evil. Will go his own way in spite of every obstacle; and may become involved in secret matters or mysteries. Danger of being very unpopular; and of scandal.

3 or C—Inclines to a passionate, emotional, and possibly rather sensual nature, very fond of luxury, novelty, pleasure and new sensations. Much attracted to the opposite sex, but nearly always unfortunate through them. Likely to have many obstacles, delays and difficulties in love affairs and marriage, disagreements and jealousy. Separation from the marriage partner, by death or otherwise may occur. Money may be gained through connection with water, the dead, by gift, inheritance partnership or marriage, but there will be many hindrances and delays in getting possession of it.

- 4 or D—Hard worker, but most successful when working under others. Generally likes power, and has a strong desire to command, but has not the ability; as he becomes merely dictatorial, and causes opposition, disputes, and difficulties of all kinds. Apt to be secretive and work in an underhand manner to get his own way, sometimes quiet and retiring. Trouble through servants, employees, false friends. Fearless and may be irritable. Probably secret love affairs and a disappointment in love. Possible loss of or separation from a child. Physical difficulties through the bowels and nerves.
- 5 or E—Benefits through parents, houses, lands, travel. Good natured, kind, religious, and rather too yielding. Fond of home and especially of the mother; generally gains money through her, or her side of the family; through employing others, public work and intellectual matters. May travel considerably and encounter some difficulties or annoyances in this direction; but these are not likely to be serious.
- 6 or F—Dignified and generally holds a dignified position in the world. Good health and general success is likely. Honorable, proud, ambitious.
- 7 or G—Talent for art and music, and success in nursing or as a clerk. Danger of loss through deceit, treachery, dishonesty, largely through servants or employees. Obstacles in the occupation. Stomach and bowels may be weak.
- 8 or H—Brilliant, clever, quick at repartee. Talent for writing and speaking; witty, observant; rather given to exaggeration, and to becoming enthusiastic. Apt to write and publish, probably short stories, or articles. Probably many journeys. Danger of fever, troubles with the head, bowels or stomach; accidents.

9 or I—May lose the father early in life, and have troubles in regard to money, property, houses, lands, business, the occupation and the reputation. Estrangement or separation from the parents may occur. Domestic discord and unhappy love affairs are likely. Marriage partner may rise in position. Possibility of death by drowning, or at a distance from home.

10 or J—Original; may be eccentric. Fond of travel and exploration and of delving into obscure or forgotten subjects. Deep thinker with scientific and literary ability. May have trouble with the education, be disobedient, unconventional, rebellious. Difficulties through the family, letters and while traveling are likely.

11 or K—Fond of home life and particularly attached to the mother. Money through the parents is likely. Strong imagination; emotional, changeable. Much influenced by the surroundings and falls quickly into the ways of those about him. Many changes of residences. Most successful when directed by others. Excellent mimic, Talent for music, painting or poetry. May be very psychic. Very fond of water and should always live near it. Success through water or dealing in liquids; also through ships, houses and lands. May have trouble with the digestion. Nervous, generous, outspoken.

12 or L—Very fixed opinions. Determined, decided, positive. Generally many friends, private and public. Some obstacle or delay is likely to occur in connection with the marriage; because of money, death or separation; and the marriage may be for money on one side or the other. Tends to give success in money matters, through inheritance, legacy, partnership, marriage, business. Gain and loss through speculation.

- 13 or M—May benefit as a detective, or in connection with hospitals, charitable institutions, prisons; but is apt to bring on many troubles through indolence, indecision, vacillation. Is easily influenced by others and sometimes lacking in truthfulness, honor and honesty. Many troubles through secret enemies, scandals, slander; false accusations are likely. Lingering illnesses. Danger from liquids of all kinds, drowning, scalding, poisons; may be quiet, retiring, perhaps gloomy, pessimistic. There is also the possibility of disappointed love, delay in marriage, death of offspring; and of restraint through crime, enmity or poverty or bad health.
- 14 or N—Generous, sincere, ambitious, fond of power, ceremony and display. Ability to undertake and carry out large undertakings, government positions or some prominent matter. Generally social success, many friends and much popularity. May succeed through matters connected with pleasure, the stage, sport affairs, or educational work. Gives a good vitality and constitution.
- 15 or O—Apt to gain through legacy, marriage or partnership. Possibility of the early death of the father, and danger of one's own death or that of the husband, in middle life.
- 16 or P—Likely to have an eventful life, full of strange happenings. Very emotional and highly strung. May have rather queer beliefs and psychic experiences. Probably much travel. Sympathetic, charitable.
- 17 or Q—Fluent speaker, active mind. Just, generous, sincere. Leaning to medicine, science and literature. Changeable; success in law. Apt to write in a rather involved manner. Likely to write or publish in partnership. Tendency to drug habits; danger of illness while traveling or trouble in some other form; quarrels with relatives.
- 18 or R—Gives ambition, power, independence, position of authority, but this may be accompanied by selfishness, loneliness and isolation. Success through hard work and abroad or away from home. May have selfish children and be treacherous to friends. Opposed to marriage as a general thing and may make an unhappy match. Tends to melancholy, gloom and despondency. Danger of a serious entanglement with opposite sex.

19 or S—Unfortunate for money matters. Causes sudden and unexpected losses and involved affairs. Money may also come unexpectedly; and the person is ingenious and resourceful in overcoming obstacles; but matters are liable to be subject to great fluctuations. Danger from dishonesty.

20 or T—Same as 2.

21 or U—Can be successful in art, music, or the stage. Strong imagination and love of the beautiful and romantic. Talent for poetry, painting, music. Intuitive, high-minded. May marry a relative, a foreigner or someone from a distance. May take up some religious work. Many love affairs. Gain through legacy, partnership, voyages, horses, ships, sporting matters and through two or more occupations at the same time.

22 or V—Love of mysteries; and may have prophetic dreams or visions. Many friendships made and broken. Fond of subjects which are original, unusual or novel. Benevolent, broad-minded, friendly. Inclines to educational, scientific or political work. Desires the good opinion of others, but is independent; and may be unorthodox and unconventional. Not especially good for the health or nerves and there may be danger to the sight.

23 or W—Good-natured, honorable, tactful, generous, high-minded. Strong love for study, science, religion, literature. May also gain through horses, races, ships, journeys or amusement enterprises. Probably a happy home life. Active, sincere. Travel in foreign lands is likely. May have two occupations or change quickly from one to another. Danger of periods when losses of money occur; or it may be very difficult to obtain money in any way. Marriage partner may be very ambitious. Possible gain through enemies. May die a hero.

24 or X—Same as 15.

25 or Y—A great deal of travel is likely, both for business and pleasure. May have prophetic dreams or presentiments, and hold peculiar religious views. Possible danger from travel at times.

26 or Z—Good-natured, easy-going, sociable. Many changes of residence. Excellent mind, good memory. Good dancer and talent for music or poetry. May gain money through mines, geological pursuits, affairs connected with water, brothers, sisters, relatives; may do much traveling, especially by water; and is more successful when working in association with others. May be interested in occultism and may be a somnambulist or have prophetic dreams.

27—Strong character and will power; love of authority. Ability to control others. Passionate, selfish, jealous, independent, sometimes even violent. Great dislike to opposition and restraint. Can influence others in a subtle way. The early death of the father is likely or a separation or estrangement from him. May obtain prominence and power in secret service work or hidden or mystical undertakings. Sometimes may become a criminal. Profit through secret societies, intrigues, elderly friends, partners, life insurance or other matters connected with the dead. Difficulties through domestic life; secret love affairs. Danger of infection, and from poisons or surgical operations or accidents. Mysterious death is possible.

28—Sudden friendship with peculiar people. Originality, independence, ingenuity, inventive, resourceful; good memory, love of study, learns easily. Fitted for large undertaking, handling or starting factories, companies, large businesses, public positions. Probably benefits through friends, partners, marriage; but also likely to have trouble through the same sources.

29—Natural reformer and strong leaning to reformation work of some kind. Good memory and intellect. Successful as manager, agent or employe, or in connection with food in any form; or drugs and medicine. Trustworthy; fortunate in employing others. Not very ambitious; easy-going, hesitating, nervous. Many friends. May become member of a company, firm or society. Nervous and plain-spoken.

30—Great love of the beautiful, very emotional. Talent for painting or music; especially for composing. Tends to hold one back from public life and keep one more in secluded or private lines. May marry an inferior, or make a secret marriage. Cheerful, optimistic, sociable, peaceful and perhaps indolent. Money may be gained through music or painting or through gifts from friends and acquaintances. Losses may occur through fraud, or through one's own fault. Money may also be acquired by questionable means. There may be two marriages; but delays and obstacles are probable and troubles through opposite sex.

31—Rash and passionate in love matters and may make a hasty or very early marriage; though there is also danger of a disappointment. Much influenced by opposite sex and likely to have unfortunate experiences in this direction. Troubles through disagreements with partner—marriage or otherwise—friends and relatives. May be clairvoyant or very intuitive.

32—Fortunate for a public life or for being the head of a business or undertaking. Grave, serious, perhaps melancholy, dignified. Probably money from the family or the father; also from those in higher position. Foreign affairs play a part in the life. May travel and make at least one long journey. Likely to become very much involved in the affairs of friends.

- 33—May have both friends and enemies in influential positions; but a public career is likely; and success through marriage and partnerships.
- 34—Fond of home life; benefits through the mother are likely and close association with her. Many changes of residence and unusual psychic experiences in connection with them may occur. Danger of loss of property and land, domestic quarrels and scandals.
- 35—More success in association with others than when alone. Makes up the mind slowly, but is fixed and determined when once decision has been made. Patient, persevering. Gain through teaching. Fond of money and usually acquires it. Sociable, friendly but may be irritable at times. Fond of art, music and poetry.
- 36—Prominence and power may be gained through companies, societies, associations. Good for state and county positions and benefits through the father. Apt to be reserved or secretive, and autocratic. May head some large movement; may make a number of voyages and reside abroad for a time. Generally a good marriage. Danger of deceit, scandal and false charges through friends.
- 37—Great interest in religion, mysteries and occult matters and connection with persons or societies interested in such matters; but danger of trouble through these, to the reputation; estrangements from friends, and other unexpected misfortunes.
- 38—Versatile mind, strong imagination, love for books, study and scientific and literary work. Many changes of residence, and short journeys. May do a great deal of walking, riding and calling on people. Can succeed as salesman, speaker, writer, clerk, journalist, designer, artist, sculptor. May change the occupation several times, or have more than one. May be somewhat lacking in perseverance or undecided, and there is a possibility of being underhanded and rather deep.

39—Same as 3.

40—Same as 4.

41—Money and gain is likely through religion, intellectual matters, ships, horses, travel; through family, friends, speculation, caring for children. Profit through land, farms and food is also possible. Very fond of money, but generous. Generally a happy marriage. Some danger of losses at times.

42—May have much success in law, religion, writing, publishing books. Likely to travel abroad. Very persevering.

43—Very sensitive and affectionate. Talent for music, poetry, painting or the stage is probable. Fond of social life. Extremely generous. Scandal through love-affairs or offspring is possible.

44—Love of study, science, literature. Good memory and mind. Opinions are not easily changed. Likely to have many literary friends and join literary or scientific societies. Travel is likely to be for a definite end.

45—Strong willed and easily roused to anger under certain circumstances; but otherwise kind, quiet and rather slow. May inherit money or gain it through investments, stocks, banks, companies, speculation. Careful in money matters. May suffer from illness while traveling and from treachery through relatives and offspring. Strained or peculiar domestic relations or death of marriage partner. Danger of being selfish and becoming miserly.

46—Ambitious, strong will, serious, thoughtful, reserved, steady, persevering. May bring one into a city or government position or into a place of authority. Good for occupation connected with machinery or electricity. May have many changes of occupation and disagreements with relatives, employers, those in authority. Danger of opposition, criticism, reverses and difficulties in the occupation.

47—Probably brings responsibility or prominence, and tends to make the person manager, or director. Ambitious, fond of publicity and not shy. Likely to be popular, generous, high-minded, warm-hearted, honorable; but changeable affections. Fond of pleasure and comfort; falls in loves easily. Love of music, poetry, perfumes, jewels, clothes.

48—Apt to receive favors from those higher up; to have many friends and acquaintances, and to obtain a good position in life. Probably a successful marriage and a pleasant home life. Likely to be brought into public life and may succeed particularly well as a dealer in ore, metals, precious stones or anything which comes from the earth. May be very strongly attached to one of the parents. Marriage may be delayed in some way; and the marriage partner may be older and in better position.

49—Same as 13.

50—Usually brings many sincere friends. Love of social life; humane, sympathetic, superstitious. Original, independent, religious, philanthropic. Fond of science, music, poetry. Success and benefits through societies and associations. May have strange, psychic experiences. Love-marriage is likely. Death may be sudden. May succeed as lawyer or speaker; and have very bright eyes.

51—Same as 42.

52—Strong feelings; very emotional; fond of luxury and new sensations. Apt to be financially successful and gain money through marriage or business partnerships. Fond of art and music, and will do best in large rather than small businesses. May make many new beginnings.

53—May marry a relative or employee. Fond of study.

Will always do best in connection with others, or in partnerships. Generally sympathetic and harmonious with family and relatives. Danger of disappointments in love and obstacles to marriage. Talent for public speaking. Business or marriage partner may be quarrelsome.

54—Apt to be serious and thoughtful; and may have many troubles and difficulties especially in early life. May both gain and lose through educational, literary and clerical work, which may bring many journeys. May do scientific research work and make new discoveries and inventions. Tendency to be rather irritable, cynical, and to lack candor. Trouble with brothers and sisters; and accidents while traveling are possible.

55—Same as 37.

56—Fond of music, poetry and art. Good natured, kind, affectionate. Tends to success in marriage, friendships and partnerships of all kinds. Fond of social life and easily influenced by others. Never does as well alone. Danger of periods of domestic troubles and losses through partners.

57—Same as 48.

58—Strong talent for invention, travel and exploration. Quick-witted; sharp in mind and speech. Apt to be combative and positive. May have many disputes with brothers and sisters and one of these many die. Trouble may also occur through writings, educational matters, letters. Fond of reading, speaking and literary work; there is, however, some danger of an impediment in the speech.

59—Religious, philosophical, intellectual. Benefits and success through servants and employees though there is also danger of trouble through treachery, deceit and indolence. Some trouble through marriage is likely, and physically with liver, digestion or bowels. May lack method and application or be somewhat absent-minded.

- 60—Many friends; benefits through those higher up. Connections with governing bodies and public honors are all likely.
- 61—Strong imagination and intuition and many strange psychic experiences. May have clairvoyant dreams. Love of music. Sympathetic and harmonious relations with family. Highly sensitive.
- 62—Same as 53.
- 63—Same as 45.
- 64—Same as 1.

BIRTH

Between July 21 and August 21.

- 1 or A—Very highly strung and emotional. Fond of mysteries or anything strange or unusual. Many troubles in the home and domestic life generally; possible estrangement. Frequent changes of residence and possible losses through houses and land. Difficulties in regard to the occupation, particularly while young.
- 2 or B—Quiet, retiring. Liable to meet with many obstacles and misfortunes. Love of romance, poetry and music. Excellent speaker and writer. May succeed in lines connected with nursing, domestic and charitable work. Serious. Sometimes danger of a tendency to intemperance or drug-taking. May have chairvoyant dreams. Not especially robust. Danger from secret enemies; of sickness in a hospital or poor-house; or of imprisonment.
- 3 or C—Sympathetic and kind; love of music, poetry and art. Fortunate for marriage, friendship and love affairs. Money may be gained through marriage and partnership.
- 4 or D—Fitted for research and investigation and capable of directing and controlling others; particularly good as manager of a school. Affectionate, sociable, but may have a quick temper; and at times may be aggressive and in this way make enemies. May have sudden and hasty love affairs and be liable to disappointments in this direction.

Possibility of death of child or trouble through, or because of it. Enterprising, fearless, honest. May receive money through the father. Some danger of accidents and of a weak heart and back.

- 5 or E—Generally successful in business, speculation and social life. Changeable and restless mentally and physically; but good natured, courteous, trustworthy. Fond of study and literature. Hopeful, cheerful, sympathetic. May marry a relative or some close associate. Two marriages are possible. Benefits through those higher up. Danger of troubles through letters, travel and relatives. not particularly good for connection with land or houses.
- 6 or F—Especially fortunate for gain through land, farming, mines, houses, building. Harmonious relations with parents. Danger of poverty at some period and losses in later life.
- 7 or G—Talent for art and music. Love of social life and pleasures of all kinds. Very emotional. May be over-generous. Sympathetic and kind.
- 8 or H—May suffer from lack of opportunity and have difficulty in obtaining an education; there is also danger of trouble through deceit and treachery from servants or employees, or of being accused of these things oneself. Excellent detective. Can unravel mysteries or plan and write them. May also gain through speaking, singing, clerical work, as a musician or in anything requiring ingenuity. May become connected with nursing, medical work, prisons or hospitals; but should always work in partnership or in association with some one else. Trouble with brothers and sisters is possible; also through travel by water.
- 9 or I—Obstacles and difficulties are probable especially in early life, in connection with the education, literary work, journeys, brothers and sisters. Thoughtful, serious; ability for scientific work, invention and discovery. May be rather hard and cynical and lacking in candor. Danger of public disgrace through relatives, false imprisonment, domestic troubles. Unfortunate in law matters. Death through violence or jealousy is possible.

10 or J—Danger of sudden losses through imprudent investments. Involved affairs. Also unexpected good luck. Ingenious and resourceful in overcoming obstacles and generally able to extricate oneself from difficulties. Possible gain through marriage, business partners or associations.

11 or K—Love for books and study, science and literature. Very active, many changes of residence, sometimes more than one house. The occupation is generally connected with travelling, or frequent outdoor journeys either walking or riding. Skillful with the hands and sometimes obliged to live by the wits. Versatile, strong imagination. Good salesman, speaker, clerk, writer, artist. May have several occupations. Danger of becoming underhanded and lacking perseverance and honesty.

12 or L—Tends to an early marriage, perhaps a hasty one, and to many love affairs. Fond of admiration, beauty, luxury, art and music. Makes friends easily and is generally popular. Likes fine clothes and show. Generous and spends freely. Losses which are sometimes one's own fault. Sometimes too unrestrained a nature.

13 or M—Apt to be impulsive and somewhat abrupt in manner and speech. May have many quarrels with friends. May do things quickly and unexpectedly without regard to consequences. Quick-witted, forcible, determined. May be difficult to change one moment, then change with startling suddenness the next. Ambitious, independent. Estrangement from offspring, or death of one is likely—strong tendency to gamble. Likely to profit through the parents and through public undertakings. Probably a good marriage. Death in a foreign land is likely and may be caused directly or indirectly by a friend.

14 or N—Generally fortunate in almost every way. Gain through houses, lands, inheritance. Strongly emotional; love of art, music, poetry. Good-natured, charitable, religious, kind. Fond of mystery and all strange things. Fond of home and usually especially devoted to the mother. Many travels especially by water; though there is some danger also, connected with traveling and water, which, however, is not likely to be serious. Death is likely to occur at a distance from home.

15 or O—Tends to bring friends in influential position and to bring the owner into public life. It is also favorable for marriage and partnerships. There is danger, however, of influential enemies also.

16 or P—Charitable, sympathetic, broad-minded. May benefit through the help of others; and may possibly endow charitable institutions. There is danger of deceit, enmity and treachery through friends connected with societies and associations, and serious losses through them.

17 or Q—Probable gain through legacy and inheritance; but liable to have trouble through wills and financial affairs, of partners. Apt to be obstinate, very positive, and difficult to manage. Becomes very enthusiastic over any matter which arouses the interest. Witty, sarcastic, fluent speaker or writer. Very ingenious and resourceful. Skillful with the hands. Love for mysteries and for unravelling problems. Possible danger while travelling, especially in short journeys by water. May lose a brother or sister by death. Must leave one's original home or home town, to meet with success.

18 or R—Brings the person into power or prominence in some form of religion or philosophy. Gives gravity and seriousness. Devout in all matters pertaining to religion; but because of an enquiring mind may embrace new views, and gain money through working in some line of this kind. Profit may also be made through shipping, horses and travel. May follow two occupations at the same time.

May inherit money, through the father, probably, and be separated from him rather early in life, through travel, religious matters or politics. Danger of disputes, losses through religious differences, etc., and of trouble while travelling in foreign lands. May have a rather odd combination in life, of popularity at one period and seclusion the next. Generally a peaceful old age.

19 or S—Strange events are likely; sudden and unexpected occurrences; estrangements and hastily broken friendships. Very outspoken and may lack tact and restraint. Resourceful, inventive, energetic. Love of freedom.

20 or T—Same as 2.

21 or U—Makes the person very emotional passionate, fond of sensation, luxury, pleasure. May be too unrestrained. Much attracted to the opposite sex. Many troubles and misfortunes through love affairs. Disappointments, delayed marriage, separation. Money may be gained through inheritance, gift, legacy, marriage or partnership; through matters connected with water, or with the dead, such as insurance. There is likely, however, to be delay, trouble and many obstacles in obtaining payment of the money.

22 or V—Brings prominence in public life which may be either for good or evil. Apt to receive benefits and assistance from women and to become head of some public undertaking which will attract attention. Executive ability and a good leader or general. Some difficulty is apt to arise in this connection, through open or secret enemies, which may injure the reputation undeservedly. Somewhat selfish and calculating, cautious with money and rather regardless of other people's feelings and fond of show. Many changes of occupation and probably much travel.

23 or W—Success may be gained in religious or charitable occupations connected with hospitals, secret societies. Fortunate for physicians or nurses. Quiet and unassuming, lacking in ambition; too easily influenced, sociable, lacking in energy and initiative; though sometimes restless and unsettled. Fond of animals. May also profit through hospitality, relatives, associations, companies, mining. Inclined to make risky investments.

24 or X—Same as 15.

25 or Y—Highly emotional, with a love of sensation and luxury. Favorable for gain through marriage or business partner also for legacy. May have presentiments.

26 or Z—Brilliant, but rather unreliable. Fortunate through brothers and sisters. Fond of reading and study which covers a wide scope. May have two occupations or make sudden changes. Possibly rise to distinction.

✓ 27—May marry a thoughtful, serious, rather reserved and undemonstrative person, with a difference in age, worldly position or wealth. There is likely to be gain on one side or the other. The father of one or the other is likely to help or hinder the marriage. This is also favorable for business partnerships; with the father, or older persons. There is also danger of death of a secret lover or friend; and trouble through enemies—especially female—at the ages of 21, 35 or 42. Possibility of tragic death.

28—Tends to make the person reserved and thoughtful, ambitious, steadfast and persevering. Generally success in public undertakings or in connection with the government. Cannot work well in a subordinate position. Frequent changes of occupation. Good memory. Succeeds best in large matters, companies, large businesses, public life. Love of independence. Sometimes benefits through partners, friends, marriage. Favorable for connection with electrical affairs. Danger of disputes with parents, teachers and employers. May be brought near fires.

29—Popular; falls in love easily; fond of pleasure and comfort. Generally brings a position of responsibility and prominence as manager or director. Ambitious and likes to be in the limelight. Tends to give success in speculation. Love for music, painting, perfume, jewelry, fine clothes; honorable, generous, candid, high-minded. Apt to have favors from those in higher position.

30—Many friends and acquaintances and benefits through them. Fond of social life. Strange love affairs and intrigues; queer occurrences in connection with marriage and love matters. Talent for music, poetry or painting, love for the beautiful. Likely to join societies. May gain through partnerships, companies, banking, investments, public enterprises.

31—Sometimes ambitious and desirous of power and fame; but never successful when attempting to control or lead others. Should always occupy a subordinate position. Inclined to work in secret in a rather underhanded manner. Likely to have many troubles through servants, false friends and co-workers. Shrewd and rather subtle. May be a surgeon or physician or become connected with drug or food business. Quarrels and misunderstandings with friends are likely. Danger of accidents, wounds, surgical operations; bowel and nervous troubles. Possible union with inferior.

32—Success in religious or philosophical matters. Good natured, just, liberal, kind. Fortunate journeys. Sympathetic. Favorable for literature, horses, ships. Money through legacy or marriage is likely. May have two love affairs or marriages one of which may be with a relative. Love for games and speculation which may lead to gambling.

33—Profit through employing others. Good physician or surgeon. Health may be somewhat poor and cause headaches.

34—May have clairvoyant or symbolical dreams. Highly strung. Harmonious relations with one's family. Love of music.

35—Good business ability and sharp wits. Fluent writer or speaker. Witty, sarcastic, given to exaggeration. Easily excited. May make many journeys, either short or long. Original and inventive imagination; and probably a writer of short stories. Possible trouble with the head or bowels.

- 36—Apt to bring power, prominence, and independence accompanied by loneliness and isolation. May take up any line, commercial, political, financial, legal. May be selfish and very self-centered. Possible tendency to gloom or dispondency. Danger of the early loss of a parent, loss and dishonor. More success away from home, especially in foreign lands. May have an unpleasant entanglement with the opposite sex, or make an unhappy marriage.
- 37—Original, inventive, ingenious, resourceful. Fitted for large undertakings in connection with companies, public positions, large manufacturing businesses. Benefits through friends, marriage and partners are likely; but trouble through these may follow.
- 38—More successful when following than when attempting to lead. Quiet, persistent, nervous, determined. Ambitious, conservative; does not like change. May acquire money through houses, land, travelling, water or liquids; also likely to gain through the mother or wife, and through investments. Should live near water. Sociable, good-natured; fond of singing, music, painting.
- 39—Same as 3.
- 40—Same as 4.
- 41—Good-natured, tactful, candid, high-minded. Love for science, religion, study, travelling; ships and horse racing, or amusement enterprises may prove a source of gain. Fortunate home life; good marriage. Profit through relative. Danger at some time of losing money and of finding it difficult to make a living. Heroic death is likely.
- 42—Success through marriage or partnership and profit through legacy is likely. Possible early death of father. If a woman possible loss of husband about middle life.

- 43—Likely to have close association with the mother. Impressionable and sympathetic. Danger of loss of property, lands and mines. Fond of home life; but may have considerable domestic inharmony. Many changes of residence. Probably some queer psychic experiences.
- 44—Cautious, diplomatic, subtle. Likely to become distinguished. May win prizes and honors at school and other places. May make many changes of occupation. Talent for public speaking. Apt to obtain a government position, or receive an important post as manager. Danger of bad temper and secretiveness.
- 45—A gift for managing and influencing others. Love of power and high position. Thoughtful; conservative. Self-confident and assured, but inclined to be distrustful. Makes friends at a distance from home, through the father, letters, writings, journeys. Gain and loss through relatives. Danger of a jealous marriage partner; poverty through marriage; accidents while travelling. Rather irritable; selfish and sometimes coarse. May succeed through companies, societies, large firms. Probably close connection with the father which may bring either good or bad results.
- 46—Liable to changes in religious views. May become distinguished in law, religion or philosophy. Likely to have prophetic dreams or presentiments. Probably much travel which at times may be dangerous. Trouble through marriage will be likely.
- 47—Fond of home and family and usually especially attached to the mother; sociable, highly imaginative and emotional. Should never attempt to lead, as most success is met when working under others. Probably many changes of residence; money through the parents, through dealing in liquids, houses and lands or through shipping. Talent for acting, music, painting, poetry. May have digestive troubles.

48—Strong imagination and great love for the beautiful. High ideals. Falls in love easily. May succeed in art music, dramatic lines, literary pursuits, or religious work. Also through horses, shipping, sporting matters, traveling. Probably many journeys, both for pleasure and business. May have several love affairs and make two marriages. A legacy and money through partnership is also likely.

49—Same as 13.

50—Inclined to be serious and not always hopeful. Generally successful in the occupation, and particularly good for public life or being at the head of some undertaking. Tends to give success, honor, favors and benefits from others. Gain through foreign matters, commerce, death of relatives, marriage. Likely to be careful with money. May involve the life very much with affairs of friends, causing many difficulties.. Possibility of great wealth.

51—Same as 42.

52—Very strong feelings and affections. Fond of all pleasures and social life. Generous. Great love for music, painting, literature, the stage. Intense love of beauty. Many love affairs. May marry an artist, or someone with bohemian tastes. Danger of a broken engagement, unhappy marriage, scandal.

53—Commercial life is most successful for this number; though there is great fondness for science and philosophy, and study of all kinds. Practical mind, good clerk or secretary. Inclined to try too many things at once, and so scatter the energies and material resources. Fond of literary matters, but apt to write on obscure or unpopular subjects which appeal only to the few. Must avoid drugs as there is danger of contracting the drug habit. Danger from overwork, which brings nervous and digestive troubles.

54—Very determined and persistent. Quiet, kind but "touchy." Prudent, economical, grave, diplomatic. Money through the parents is likely and through careful investments; but the money has a tendency to slip away in some manner. Apt to be selfish. Danger of sickness while travelling at a distance, treachery from relatives and offspring; death of marriage partner, strange experiences through family life.

55—Same as 37.

56—Good memory. Trustworthy. Fortunate in any subordinate position or when employing others. Excellent in medical lines, as a druggist, farmer, matters connected with food, or as a clerk, teacher, secretary or traveller. May become member of a company, or society and engage in work for the people. Apt to have a rather quiet and uneventful life.

57—Same as 48.

58—Money through hard work, marriage, legacies; but the expenses are high and bring a steady drain and sometimes force a too free expenditure, causing danger of hard times. Obstinate and very determined in overcoming difficulties. Good practical, hardworking, capable manager, but may be bad-tempered. Love affairs and marriage are apt to bring tragic happenings.

59—Profit through church work, pleasure, sporting matters, dramatic or amusement enterprises, or in educational lines. Fond of ceremonious display. Fitted for large undertakings, government positions, public life. Strongly attracted to religious, philosophical or scientific work; and may become distinguished in some of these directions. Strong constitution and vitality. Strong love nature.

- 60—Tends to bring prominence and a public career. Favors from those in influential position. Ambitious; love of power. Success is likely through father or, if a woman, the husband.
- 61—In one way, this is good for business; but there may be periods when money is acquired only with great difficulty. Good-natured, friendly patient. Favorable for friendship and marriage; but danger of tragedy through dishonesty and fraud.
- 62—Same as 53.
- 63—Same as 45.
- 64—Same as 1.

PREFACE

The special placing of the name vibration, in connection with the individual birth for each of the twelve months, is absolutely original with the author and can be used by no one in any publication without express permission from Veolia J. and Aelva J. Boyle.

"You are a musical instrument. Your body and the conditions of your life are the result of the harmonies or discords played by you or upon you from day to day, by your personal name." It is merely another more subtle, form of Wireless Telegraphy, and of the action of Sound upon the life.

Business men will find these books invaluable in judging employees, partners, general conditions, etc.

As a health guide they are also of great assistance, as well as in showing the direction where physical, financial or mental danger lies.

They have been written for the benefit of those, who having neither time nor inclination for the deeper study necessary to an understanding of the principles involved in this science, nevertheless wish a method which will guide them by the very shortest cut possible, to its results and benefits.

That it is an absolute exact and accurate science, has long passed beyond the possibility of question.

It is the one science which offers a method of at least ameliorating, and a cure, for many of the evils of life.

To those merely seeking amusement they will be found to contain an endless fund of enjoyment.

The definitions given here contain the type of events likely to occur during the life of the individual whose name is being read. Some of them may have already occurred, others will probably be yet to come. If one part of the name shows fortunate indications and another indicates misfortune, then there will be periods when the good fortune will predominate, and other periods when it will seem as if all went wrong.

DIRECTIONS

To use this book follow directions carefully.

The manner of adding the names from the table of letters and numbers as given below is very simple. Any child of ten can learn it in a few moments.

If it is done correctly the accuracy of the reading given for each number will be a never ending source of amusement and fascination to all.

Each letter is to be counted as the number under which it is placed in the table.

Use every name you possess, such as Mary Ann Smith; also your mother's last name, before marriage; and day of month of birth as a number.

Do not add the names together, use each separately.

If one name has a fortunate definition and one unfortunate, the life will partake of each.

The table for addition of names:

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
a	b	c	d	e	f	g	h	i
j	k	l	m	n	o	p	q	r
s	t	u	v	w	x	y	z

Example:

M a r y

$$4+1+9+7=21$$

S m i t h

$$1+4+9+2+8=24 \text{ (Mother's name before marriage)}$$

J a c k s o n

$$1+1+3+2+1+6+5=19. \text{ Day of month of birth } 14.$$

BIRTH

Between August 21 and September 21.

- 1 or A—Ingenious; original; inventive; may be somewhat eccentric. Love for exploration and travel and for scientific or philosophical work. Apt to take up unusual or out-of-the-way subjects. Makes friends among literary people. Danger of trouble through disobedience, unconventionality or rebellion; also with the education, and family. Accidents while traveling are also probable.
- 2 or B—Love for the mysterious. May have clairvoyant dreams or visions. Persistent, determined. Ambitious but rather quiet and unimpulsive. Given to making sudden friendships and abandoning them with equal suddenness. Conservative, does not like change. Usually fortunate in acquiring money and property, especially houses and lands. May have a secret occupation or become involved in a mystery. Success through connection with water and liquids is also probable. Should always live near water. Talent for music, singing and painting. Good-humored and sociable.
- 3 or C—Likely to have delays and disappointments in love affairs, marriage or business partnerships. Probably marry an inferior or someone in a lower station of life. Gain through nursing, as a physician or druggist or in connection with food, farms or gardens. Also as an employee, or through employees. Generally good health and digestion.

- 4 or D—Likely to be irritable and have a bad temper. Many quarrels and disagreements with the parents; from one of whom there is liable to be a separation, perhaps through an early death. May inherit property; but annoyances through legacies, especially houses and land is probable. Many changes of residence. Danger of accidents in the dwelling and to the person, through both fire and water, and of digestive troubles.
- 5 or E—Profit through churches, religious matters, philosophy, shipping, horses, friends marriage, speculation. Fond of home; and generally not much travel except for business purposes. Both gain and loss is likely through connection with farms, or foodstuffs. Fortunate in money matters as a usual thing and in receiving gifts and legacies. Apt to make a happy marriage. Troubles through relatives are likely.
- 6 or F—Excellent intellect. Success through teaching, writing, literature, science, brothers and sisters, journeys.
- 7 or G—Many changes of residences and may have some queer experiences in regard to them. Fond of home and may have a very close connection with the mother. Danger of loss of lands, mines and other property; domestic troubles and scandal.
- 8 or H—Good memory and mind. Strong, fixed opinions difficult to change. Hard worker; original; capable intellect. Likely to join societies and associations.
- 9 or I—Determined, strong-willed, reserved, diplomatic; thrifty. Probably an inheritance and money through stocks, lands, banks, public matters. Likely to have heavy expenditures; deceit and treachery through relatives and offspring. Sickness through travel. Strange experiences. Death of husband or wife.
- 10 or J—Forceful, impulsive, somewhat brusque. Lacking in tact and apt to give offense without intending it. Resourceful, inventive, energetic, independent. Disputes and estrangements.

11 or K—Nervous, but rather quiet and unimpulsive and very difficult to change. Conservative and most successful in a solidly established business, or dealing in lands or houses. May also engage in a mysterious occupation or become involved in a mystery. Profit through connection with water or liquids; gain through mother or marriage partner. Prudent, economical. More successful working with others than when alone. Love for music and painting. Makes many friends. Sociable, materialistic.

12 or L—Very emotional and highly strung. Intense love of the beautiful. Cheerful, charitable, inclined to be indolent and somewhat changeable. May have several love-affairs and make more than one marriage; possibly a secret one to an inferior. Many losses and troubles through the opposite sex. Likely to pursue two occupations and gain through gift or charity, and at times earn money through teaching, painting or music. Sometimes not too careful in the methods of obtaining money. Loss of money through deceit and fraud or sometimes because of one's own fault.

13 or M—Fond of being in the public eye. Ambitious, energetic. Fond of authority and responsibility. Profit through travel and foreign affairs. Apt to have delicate offspring. Quick tempered and liable to disputes with those in authority. May be a separation from or disagreement with a parent, or between the parents themselves. There may also be trouble through relatives, letters, journeys. Probably an inheritance from the father or a legacy from brother or sister.

14 or N—Trustworthy, courteous, sometimes clairvoyant. Changeable, restless. Truthful. Fond of traveling and novelty, study and literature. Gains influential friends. May marry a relative or close friend and perhaps make two marriages; though there is likely to be trouble in this connection through relatives, letters or travel. Self-educated. Difficulties through, or because of, the mother, brothers or sisters; possibility of estrangements. Sorrow through the family.

15 or O—Success through employing others. Danger of bad health and headaches.

16 or P—Popularity, many friends, love affairs and marriage are likely. Marriage may be with an artist, musician or someone with bohemian tastes. Danger of scandal and treachery through friends.

17 or Q—Love of study, writing and educational matters in general. Marriage may be rather of the head than of the heart, and may be with a relative. Should always be in partnership or in association with others to be successful. Happy relations with brothers and sisters. Danger of great obstacles to the marriage; and unhappiness in this direction is likely. Love of pleasure, society and children.

18 or R—Love of leading, managing and controlling others. Sometimes rather violent and rebellious. Apt to be passionate, selfish, jealous. Fond of the hidden and mysterious; strange influence over others. Early death of father, or estrangement and separation from him. May profit from intrigues, secret societies, elderly friends, partners, insurance, deaths of relatives. Unfortunate love affairs. Able to plot and plan. Danger of shame, crime, infection, poison, surgical operations and mysterious death.

- 31—Generous, truthful, high-minded, independent, active, hard worker. Excellent manager or superintendent, especially of schools. Ability for research, investigation or exploration. Affectionate; but may have a quick temper and is sometimes aggressive. Sometimes lacking in restraint. Hasty and passionate in love matters. Danger of disappointment in love; accidents, annoyances through children and social life, death of friends, and too great love of pleasure. May lose a child through death or separation. Possible trouble with heart and back.
- 32—Highly strung, active, self-confident, proud of birth. Generous, enthusiastic, persevering. Fond of mysteries and hidden things. Given to both pulling down and building up; an excellent architect. Positive religious opinions though may hold advanced views. May profit through litigation, marriage, societies, mining, investments. Apt to be entrusted with the secrets of others and may become involved in intrigues. Strange friendships and adventures, risky speculations. Danger of tragic death through jealous enemies.

- 33—Generally good health and vitality. Ambitious, proud, dignified. Successful speculation. Love for birds.
- 34—At times very good for money and business, then other periods when money is very difficult to obtain. Good-natured, patient, sociable. Fortunate for friendship and marriage; but danger of dishonesty and fraud sometimes ending in a tragedy.
- 35—Good-natured, friendly, just. Successful in singing, speaking, writing; but many difficulties through deceit and treachery. This sometimes comes through servants or employees or the person himself may be accused. An excellent detective who can unravel mysteries and also plan or write them. Diplomatic, cautious. May also do well in amusement enterprises or in singing, music; public speaker. Good entertainer, clerk or secretary. May be connected with nursing, medicine, prison hospitals; this is usually unpleasant in some way and is more successful when it is in association with another. There may be difficulty in acquiring an education; and danger of suffering through libel, forgery, theft of papers and scandal. Losses through brothers and sisters.
- 36—Tends to give prominence, power, authority, religious or philosophical work. Might become distinguished as a clergyman, philosopher, financier or an explorer. May inherit through one or both parents; and be separated from them by travel, religion or politics. May lead a somewhat dual life, one moment in the eyes of the public and the next living in retirement. Profit may come through travel, religious matters, shipping, horses. Danger of becoming unpopular and of standing in one's own light.
- 37—Ambitious, diplomatic, tactful, serious, thoughtful, reserved, persevering. May have success in public life and attain a prominent and responsible position; is also good for lines connected with electricity. Many changes of environment are likely; family troubles in early life and separation from the father; obstacles in the occupation, criticism and opposition are all probable. Sudden and unexpected occurrences.

38—Apt to be aggressive and irritable, independent, self-reliant. Determined to have his own way. Changeable, impulsive. Makes or mars his own life. Usually attains to some prominence and is placed in control over others. Separation from the parents, or a parent, early in life is probable. The mother is apt to strongly influence the life either for good or evil. May take up, or become involved in, some occupation surrounded by secrecy. Danger of scandal and of becoming unpopular. Good organizer.

39—Same as 3.

40—Same as 4.

41—Profit through relatives, hospitality, mining, companies, as a physician, nurse, in connection with hospitals, religious societies. Apt to make hazardous investments. May be unassuming, unambitious, sociable, easily influenced, may be indolent, at one time, restless and unsettled at others. Fond of secrets and mysteries. Makes a good detective or writer of mystery stories. Success in politics and as a public speaker.

42—Fortunate for a public life, influence through friends in high position, marriage and partnerships. Danger of influential enemies.

43—Strong imagination and intuition. Probably clairvoyant dreams. Highly strung. Love of music. Harmonious relations with family. Much travelling especially by water.

44—Fluent in speech, active mind. Just, sincere, generous, religious. Talent for medicine, science, literature. Changeable. Will probably study more than one subject or make rapid changes from one to another. May write in partnership or in association with others. Fond of travel, riding and walking. Success in dealing in drugs or foods. Danger of trouble with the education, brothers and sisters, short journeys.

45—Brings many and great difficulties and misfortunes. Losses through friends. Secret enemies, persecution, trouble through servants; estrangement from the father or his early death. ## PREFACE

The special placing of the name vibration, in connection with the individual birth for each of the twelve months, is absolutely original with the author and can be used by no one in any publication without express permission from Veolia J. and Aelva J. Boyile.

"You are a musical instrument. Your body and the conditions of your life are the result of the harmonies or discords played by you or upon you from day to day, by your personal name." It is merely another more subtle, form of Wireless Telegraphy, and of the action of Sound upon the life.

Business men will find these books invaluable in judging employees, partners, general conditions, etc.

As a health guide they are also of great assistance, as well as in showing the direction where physical, financial or mental danger lies.

They have been written for the benefit of those, who having neither time nor inclination for the deeper study necessary to an understanding of the principles involved in this science, nevertheless wish a method which will guide them by the very shortest cut possible, to its results and benefits.

That it is an absolute exact and accurate science, has long passed beyond the possibility of question.

It is the one science which offers a method of at least ameliorating, and a cure, for many of the evils of life.

To those merely seeking amusement they will be found to contain an endless fund of enjoyment.

The definitions given here contain the type of events likely to occur during the life of the individual whose name is being read. Some of them may have already occurred, others will probably be yet to come. If one part of the name shows fortunate indications and another indicates misfortune, then there will be periods when the good fortune will predominate, and other periods when it will seem as if all went wrong.

DIRECTIONS

To use this book follow directions carefully.

The manner of adding the names from the table of letters and numbers as given below is very simple. Any child of ten can learn it in a few moments.

If it is done correctly the accuracy of the reading given for each number will be a never ending source of amusement and fascination to all.

Each letter is to be counted as the number under which it is placed in the table.

Use every name you possess, such as Mary Ann Smith; also your mother's last name, before marriage; and day of month of birth as a number.

Do not add the names together, use each separately.

If one name has a fortunate definition and one unfortunate, the life will partake of each.

The table for addition of names:

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
a	b	c	d	e	f	g	h	i
j	k	l	m	n	o	p	q	r
s	t	u	v	w	x	y	z

Example:

M a r y

$$4+1+9+7=21$$

S m i t h

$$1+4+9+2+8=24 \text{ (Mother's name before marriage)}$$

J a c k s o n

BIRTH

Between September 21 and October 21.

- 1 or A—Not very fortunate financially. Gain at times; but also many losses. Ingenious, resourceful, and generally able to extricate the affairs from the difficulties in which they are involved. Unexpected luck and unexpected misfortune. Many new undertakings. Danger from dishonesty.
- 2 or B—Brings prominence or public life. Executive ability. Many changes in occupation. May be placed at the head of some business, undertaking, or movement, but usually something of an unpleasant nature is sure to arise. Fond of show, cautious, selfish, able to influence others and rather indifferent to their feelings. Danger from open or secret enemies, and of loss of reputation.
- 3 or C—Many love affairs and likely to make a love match. Very susceptible to the attractions of the opposite sex. Popular, many friends, fond of social life and gaiety of all kinds. Kind, affectionate. Talent for music, painting, the stage, literature. Fortunate through offspring, or through young people. Good for connection with schools or the stage. May make more than one marriage.
- 4 or D—Likely to have many quarrels and disagreements with parents and family. Death of one parent, probably the mother, early in life or there may be a separation.

May be lacking in candor and have an unpleasant temper. Probable inheritance of houses and land; but apt to have many difficulties through houses, land or legacy, and his own dwelling place; fires, floods, earthquakes, robberies. Danger of drowning. May have trouble with nerves and digestion.

- 5 or E—Ambitious, impulsive, courteous, trustworthy, but changeable and restless physically and mentally. Happy relations with family; fond of travelling and novelty. May make two marriages, one of which may be with a relative; but there may be trouble through letters, travel or relatives. Profit through the mother's side is likely; travel in foreign lands and possible gain through enemies or opponents.
- 6 or F—Money and gain through father or son is probable; but is apt to get away easily.
- 7 or G—Strong imagination and probably clairvoyant dreams. Highly strung. Love of music. Harmonious relations with family. Much travel. Should live among mountains.
- 8 or H—Diplomatic, ambitious. Likely to gain distinction and advancement. Subtle influence over others. Cautious and may be lacking in candor. Probably win prizes at schools, and generally through life. Many short journeys. May obtain a post in the government, or become head manager.
- 9 or I—Fond of controlling others and can influence them in a subtle manner. Able to plan, arrange and organize. Diplomatic, but distrustful and may be distrusted. Fond of seclusion and may be somewhat gloomy. Tendency to selfishness. Apt to be a great letter writer. Makes friends at a distance rather than near by. Gain or loss through relatives. Marriage partner will probably be jealous and and marriage may result in poverty. Success may be gained through hard work and perseverance. The father may hold a strong influence over the life either for good or bad.

10 or J—Love of mysteries and the marvelous; strange Dreams. Danger of reverses and sudden misfortunes. Loss of friends and possibly of reputation.

11 or K—Independent. Determined to have his own way. Enthusiast, impulsive, sometimes aggressive. Changeable, restless. The mother will probably strongly influence the life either for good or bad. May bring the person into some prominence and place him in control of others. Makes his own fate; and many follow some secret occupation. Friends may turn against him, and there is danger of scandal.

12 or L—Very emotional and highly strung with a great love for beauty. Strongly attracted to opposite sex. Many and strange love affairs with remarkable events connected with them. Fortunate for gaining money through societies, firms, companies, investments, or through public undertakings and amusement enterprises. Many friends who are always ready to confer benefits. Danger of loss through extravagance; and scandal involving friends.

13 or M—Positive and fixed in ideas apt to be a religious enthusiast, aggressive and combative. Strong belief in his own opinions, but nevertheless apt to change his views. Daring, fearless. Fond of traveling, walking, riding, sailing. Danger while traveling; disputes with relatives and friends.

14 or N—Profit through religious work, shipping, horses, travel. Fixed in religious opinions and seldom changes them. Fond of home. Gains through land, legacies and gifts. Probably a good marriage. Affectionate.

15 or O—Ambitious, proud, dignified. Good health and vitality. Success in speculation.

16 or P—Success in music, painting or any artistic line. Generally good for financial matters; but there is apt to be trouble in the family, and through the father; especially in early life.

17 or Q—Active mind, fond of science, study and writing. Good clerk and secretary, or manager of servants and employees. Not apt to have much public success. May take up with unpopular subjects. Danger of poor health.

18 or R—Marriage partner may be older, more serious and wealthier. The father of one side or the other may help or hinder the marriage. Fortunate for business partnerships, companies or associations. Danger of inharmony, opposition, jealousy.

19 or S—Independent, original, inventive, resourceful, good memory, learns easily. Fitted for large undertakings, public life, government positions. Sudden friendships. Fondness for unusual subjects. Benefits through friends, partners and marriage are likely; but there is also danger of discord through all these things.

20 or T—Same as 2.

21 or U—Brings delay and disappointment in love affairs and marriage and may marry beneath his own station. Profit through land, nursing, drugs, medicine. Generally good health.

22 or V—Self reliant, determined, plain-spoken, energetic, hard worker. Sometimes may bring about great changes; yet strongly against change when advocated by others. May be rather coarse in speech and manner. Danger of becoming dissipated. May act as executor or in some way take charge of the affairs of the dead. Legacy through the mother or through women is likely; but may involve quarrels. Financial gain through marriage. Danger from water, liquids, or crowds.

23 or W—May be very serious or somewhat melancholy; ambitious, dignified; money through religious matters, legacy from father or friend, from relatives, or money from commercial matters, marriage. Careful with money as a rule. Apt to become much involved in the troubles of others.

24 or X—Same as 15.

25 or Y—Excellent physician, nurse, clerk, artist, musician. Danger of loss through servants and employees, dishonesty, deceit and troubles in the occupation.

26 or Z—Observant, quick-witted, clever at repartee, sarcastic, enthusiastic, excitable. Excellent writer and speaker. Given to exaggeration. May write and publish short stories or articles which are very original. Many short journeys. Danger of accidents, fever and trouble with the head and bowels.

27—Ambitious, enterprising, determined, strong intellect. Generally attains to power and responsibility. Favors from those in authority; generally the recipient of gifts and legacies. Self contained and self-centred. May have a weak heart. Possible death of the father in early life or separation from him. Trouble through love affairs. Likely to marry an old friend. Danger from crowds and over work.

28—Strong power of concentration. Self-willed, rebellious, determined. Quick mind, sharp intellect. Danger of accidents, falls, gun shot wounds, explosions. Liable to sudden death.

29—Love of books, study, scientific and literary work, very active. Many changes of residence and frequent journeys. Much riding and walking, good interviewer. Gain as a traveller, salesman, speaker, writer, artist, or may live by the wits. Very versatile. May be subtle and rather lacking in honesty. Success through brothers and sisters.

30—Strong imagination, great love of beauty, poetry, painting, music. Many love affairs. May marry a relative or someone from a distance and may make more than one marriage. Gain through religion, horses or other animals, traveling, sporting matters, the stage. Money from legacies and partnerships. Should have a good voice.

- 31—Changeable, irritable, may have a bad temper and brood over real or imaginary injuries. May lose a parent, probably the mother, early in life, or be separated from her. May inherit houses or land, also money. Many changes of residence and accidents in the home, floods, fire, theft. Marriage not very happy. Danger of drowning.
- 32—Charitable, religious, sincere. Fond of poetry, music, philosophy and intellectual work in general. Good for partnerships and association with others. Many journeys. May have trouble through religious persons. Liable to be brought into connection with hospitals and public institutions. Happy marriage. May be left a legacy. Danger from enemies, loss through a woman, relatives and friends.
- 33—Happy home relations. Success through lands, mines, farms. Danger of poverty and financial losses.
- 34—Strongly emotional. Sympathetic, charitable. Strange eventful life. May be untruthful. Peculiar dreams.
- 35—Good memory and intellect. Religious, fond of science and literature. Likes to join societies and associations. Travel is generally for business.
- 36—Jealous, independent, selfish. Strong character, love of power and authority. Likely to become unpopular and may be involved in a scandal which injures the reputation. Strange influence over others. Subtle mind. Can write, create or unravel mysteries. Good detective. May lose the father early in life through death or separation. Gain through secret societies, intrigues, partners, friends, life insurance. Sometimes notoriety, or crime. Danger from surgical operations, poison, infection, mysterious death.

- 37—Fond of mysteries and ceremony. Strong imagination; ability for invention. May have clairvoyant dreams or visions. Danger of domestic troubles.
- 38—Successful as physician, nurse; charitable and domestic work. Changeable, irritable, not dependable. Strongly emotional. Fluent writer and speaker. Rather easily depressed. Danger from intemperance and of acquiring a drug habit, also from secret enemies, prosecution, treachery, deceit.
- 39—Same as 3.
- 40—Same as 4.

PREFACE

The special placing of the name vibration, in connection with the individual birth for each of the twelve months, is absolutely original with the author and can be used by no one in any publication without express permission from Veolia J. and Aelva J. Boyle.

"You are a musical instrument. Your body and the conditions of your life are the result of the harmonies or discords played by you or upon you from day to day, by your personal name." It is merely another more subtle, form of Wireless Telegraphy, and of the action of Sound upon the life.

Business men will find these books invaluable in judging employees, partners, general conditions, etc.

As a health guide they are also of great assistance, as well as in showing the direction where physical, financial or mental danger lies.

They have been written for the benefit of those, who having neither time nor inclination for the deeper study necessary to an understanding of the principles involved in this science, nevertheless wish a method which will guide them by the very shortest cut possible, to its results and benefits.

That it is an absolute exact and accurate science, has long passed beyond the possibility of question.

It is the one science which offers a method of at least ameliorating, and a cure, for many of the evils of life.

To those merely seeking amusement they will be found to contain an endless fund of enjoyment.

The definitions given here contain the type of events likely to occur during the life of the individual whose name is being read. Some of them may have already occurred, others will probably be yet to come. If one part of the name shows fortunate indications and another indicates misfortune, then there will be periods when the good fortune will predominate, and other periods when it will seem as if all went wrong.

DIRECTIONS

To use this book follow directions carefully.

The manner of adding the names from the table of letters and numbers as given below is very simple. Any child of ten can learn it in a few moments.

If it is done correctly the accuracy of the reading given for each number will be a never ending source of amusement and fascination to all.

Each letter is to be counted as the number under which it is placed in the table.

Use every name you possess, such as Mary Ann Smith; also your mother's last name, before marriage; and day of month of birth as a number.

Do not add the names together, use each separately.

If one name has a fortunate definition and one unfortunate, the life will partake of each.

The table for addition of names:

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
a	b	c	d	e	f	g	h	i
j	k	l	m	n	o	p	q	r
s	t	u	v	w	x	y	z

Example:

M a r y

$$4+1+9+7=21$$

S m i t h

$$1+4+9+2+8=24 \text{ (Mother's name before marriage)}$$

J a c k s o n

$$1+1+3+2+1+6+5=19. \text{ Day of month of birth } 14$$

Look for 21 and read definition.

BIRTH

Between Nov. 21, to Dec. 22.

- 1 or A—Many occult experiences. Probably quarrels, separation, secret enemies, deep interest in occultism, estrangement from friends, unexpected misfortunes.
- 2 or B—Firm determined, self-reliant, able to fight one's own battles. Abrupt, plain-spoken, positive, conservative, obstinate, difficult to influence. May start revolutions or try to force great changes. May have a bad temper and be revengeful. Danger of taking to drinking or drug habit. May receive legacy from the mother or through females. Gain through marriage or partner. Probably have several children and lose one. Critical, tends to coarseness of speech and lack of refinement. A death in the family or of someone closely associated with it, may have occurred shortly before or after one's own birth. May act as executor or be frequently brought into contact with the dead or follow some occupation having to do with the dead. Favors marriage; but if a woman, there is almost certain to be trouble in any contact with the opposite sex.
- 3 or C—Same as 39.
- 4 or D—Same as 40.
- 5 or E—Sincere friends from whom one will derive pleasure and profit. May be superstitious and have curious beliefs, love of out-of-the way subjects. Success and pleasure from societies, associations, etc. Make a love-marriage. Professional success. Sudden end.

6 or F—Success in secluded occupations. Danger of loss, prosecution, secret enemies.

7 or G—Love for travel. Intuitive, sympathetic, benevolent. usually a life full of strange experiences and remarkable occurrences. Maybe untruthful. Apt to have weird dreams.

8 or H—Positive, obstinate, difficult to convince. Power of concentration, manual dexterity. Gets very enthusiastic over any cause which appeals to the ideas and rouses to great indignation over real or imaginary wrongs. Lively, active, witty, sarcastic; probably has a great flow of words and command of language most of the time; resourceful and talent for practical invention. Fond of unravelling mysteries and solving problems. Success as a chemist, surgeon, detective, soldier, metal worker. May be able to heal or control through the will. A brother, sister or cousin may die, strongly affecting the life. Danger while traveling, especially by water. Success in law.

9 or I—Success through societies, the father and subordinates, associations, companies. Tends to bring prominence, position, authority. Usually domineering. Goes into popular movements against established authority. Often gives success in acquiring wealth through stocks, companies, speculation. May be widely known. Faithful in love, probably a happy marriage. Danger of loss, fraud and trouble through offspring.

10 or J—Apt to be thoughtful, serious and reserved, ambitious, persevering. Finds it difficult to work for others. Tends to success in public occupations connected with governmental bodies, but is better for electrical and manufacturing businesses. Danger of family discord in youth and loss of or separation from the father, and later of opposition and public criticism. Difficulties in the occupation and many changes of residence.

11 or K—Many acquaintances among women, clubs. Inclines to mysticism, fondness for the occult; love of music, may join secret or mystical societies. Sociable, sympathetic. Many friendships, made and broken. Peculiar, independent, fond of secrets. May be very nervous and have trouble with the eyes.

12 or L—Love of beauty, painting and music. May marry among one's relatives or someone from a long distance, probably a foreigner. Fortunate travels, and likely to be successful in artistic, musical or dramatic lines; also in connection with horses, shipping, voyaging, athletics, literary work. Marriage may lead to change of religion, starting some new religious work and traveling. Money through legacy or partnership. Many love-affairs; may be fickle. Must guard against falls.

13 or M—Same as 49.

14 or N—Kind, charitable, unassuming. Success in connection with hospitals, secret societies, churches. Sociable, changeable, not ambitious, inclined to be indolent, ease-loving and easily influenced. Fond of animals. Profit through companies. May marry an inferior. Inclined to make hazardous investments. Good physician, nurse, lawyer, detective, policeman, writer of mystery stories.

15 or O—Good for educational matters. Excellent intellect. Success through brothers and sisters, writing, teaching, science, literature.

16 or P—Very emotional and fond of luxury, and new sensations, but danger of falls, financial and mental.

17 or Q—Wide comprehensive view of things. Quiet, easy-going, good natured. Success in intellectual lines, mining, geology. Many changes of residence. May be an excellent dancer or have talent for music or poetry. May gain money through connection with lands and property, through close relations, and the mother or her side of the family. Works better with associates than alone. Fond of water and may do much traveling on it; especially short journeys. Probably be somewhat clairvoyant or have presentiments. Makes friends among all classes, joins societies, associations, companies. Good for the digestion: but troubles or shocks upset the stomach.

18 or R—Tends to bring power, authority and responsibility. Separation or difficulties in love-affairs. Probably death of one child and separation from others; benefits and favors through the father or those in higher position; but losses through investments; possible separation from the father, or his early death. Enterprising, ambitious, determined. Not specially fond of pleasure, but able to enjoy very small things. Many troubles through the dislike and treachery of servants and employees. Profit through foreign affairs, marriage, intellectual pursuits. Partners who turn into opponents. Danger from crowds and possible death from overwork or heart-disease.

19 or S—Apt to have domestic discord. Inventive, imaginative. Fond of mystery and ceremony or ritualism. May change the religion and possibly become famous in law or religious matters. May make many successful journeys, but there is also danger from travels.

20 or T—Same as 2.

21 or U—Apt to be closely associated with one of the parents, and fond of family life. Profit through parents, marriage, some occupation connected with water; also from some rather unpopular employment. Unfortunate for marriage or money and brings obstacles to both. May be much difference in age or position between the person and the marriage partner. Mother may help or hinder the marriage, and it may be delayed, from one cause or another. Money or property may come from the parents of one side or the other. Probable competence at end of life.

22 or V—Favors work with the people, for the people. Good memory; successful as manager or agent, farmer, miller, grocer, confectioner or any line connected with food or grain, or with drugs and medicine, as chemist, druggist, herbalist, physician. May make many journeys. Trustworthy and faithful. May be retiring, but somewhat boastful. May work as secretary, clerk, messenger, traveler, school teacher, and join some company, firm or society. Fond of the study of hygiene and anxious to appear well to strangers.

23 or W—Active, self-confident, emotional, determined. Ardent, persevering, generous. Fond of mysteries, secret and occult things. Proud of birth. Analytical. Positive and sometimes aggressive in religions. Likely to have jealous enemies and peculiar intrigues, and profit through litigation, marriage, societies, death of partner, public investments, mining, etc. Apt to be entrusted with secrets involving the honor of others. Peculiar friendships, many travels, strange adventures, questionable speculations. Notoriety, through children. Danger and misfortune from the water and voyages. Liable to death by water or while traveling, or possible tragic death through social or political connections.

24 or X—Same as 15.

25 or Y—Many changes of residence, and probably strange psychic experiences. May have close association with the mother; fond of home, very impressionable. Danger of loss of property, lands, mines, domestic inharmony, scandals.

26 or Z—Good memory, strong, intellect, inclined to literary, scientific or religious work. Fixed opinions, does not like change. Many friends among learned people. Travel for a definite object. Joins literary, scientific or religious societies.

27—Troubles and difficulties, especially in early life. Thoughtful, serious, better for later life. Dual experiences in affairs connected with relatives. Profit from two sources by questionable means. Strength of character, subtlety of purpose, depth of thought; ability for research work or for invention and discovery. May tend to be unfortunate for the father. May die early in the person's life or meet with troubles. Danger of trouble with brothers and sisters, accidents while traveling; false imprisonment through treachery or domestic troubles. Deceitful relatives or employees may bring public dishonor. May marry abroad, or marriage partner may be a foreigner. Unfortunate in legal matters and may suffer through self-deception. Liable to meet with a strange death through violence or jealousy.

28—May gain through public occupation or in connection with the state, but apt to have many hindrances and obstacles, insurmountable difficulties and troubles through servants. Subtle, original. Succeeds best in connection with others, especially in chemistry, science or art. Danger of public hostility and official enemies.

29—Self-reliant; shrewd; impulsive; favorable to public life. Independent. Sometimes irritable. Somewhat volatile and changeable. May achieve popularity and reach a position where he may be in charge over others, or be at the head of some undertaking; and probably attain prominence in one's own sphere. The mother will play a prominent part in the life, sometimes an unfortunate one. Generally strikes out a path for oneself whether right or wrong. May sometimes become involved in matters demanding secrecy or surrounded by mystery, or in occupation of rather low class, and quite contrary to the nature. Favors original and independent ventures; but danger of unpopularity or scandal.

30—Sympathetic, kindly, sociable, popular. Love for music and poetry. Favorable for love, marriage, friends, money by marriage and through partners. Gain through matters connected with clothes, ornaments, flowers, perfumes, toilet preparations.

31—Money through occupations connected with war; arms, ammunition, etc. Generally determined to have one's own way and to overcome all obstacles. May possibly have sudden and violent outbursts of temper. May earn considerable money or receive money through marriage or legacy; but apt to have high expenses and spend money quickly. Danger of extravagances and loss, and of being in very poor circumstances at sometime in life. May have powerful opponents, and tragic happenings through love affairs and marriage.

32—Fond of power, display, grandeur, dignity. Generally becomes engaged in some public work at the head of some matter, where others are under the person's control. May also become prominent in science, art, religion or philosophy. May make one long journey but not apt to travel frequently. Fortunate and happy through children, social life, friends. Strong constitution, great vitality. Compassionate, high-minded, benevolent. Deep love nature. Honorable death.

33—Usually fortunate for financial matters, generally money from the father or the son.

34—Favorable for love, marriage, friendship, popularity. Sympathetic, social, intuitive. Emotional, many changing friendships, among artists, musicians, mystics. Danger of treachery, scandal and loss through friends.

35—Active mind, Fluent speech, just, generous, sincere. Taste for medicine, science, law, literature. Changeable, apt to start at one thing and drop it for another. Likes to write on religion, philosophy, or science and to get up books or pamphlets for propaganda work, but apt to lack clearness of express. Fond of walking, riding, and traveling; may become ill while on a journey or travel because of ill-health. Likes to handle or deal in drugs, medicines or foods. Danger of acquiring drug habit, and of quarrels with relatives.

36—Serious, discreet, critical, analytical, original, capable, but timid. May be considered dull as a child. May become more diffident with age, and perhaps, gloomy and melancholy. Apt to have the ambition frustrated and disappointments or reversals in the occupation. May be held back by ill-health, an unpopular vocation, or by the father's actions or affairs; though at times may also benefit through him, also as a manager. Profit through foreigners and religious employees. Disinclined to marry; but may have a romantic courtship; may have headaches, colds, congestion of the liver, stomach and bowels. Danger of mental troubles.

37—May have trouble through impulsive partnerships, and marriage, with later separation and divorce. Enmity, rivalry, opposition, criticism, broken friendships. Peculiar disposition and manner. Favorable for artistic or literary occupations, and where marriage partner has these tastes also, the danger of marital troubles is lessened.

PREFACE

The special placing of the name vibration, in connection with the individual birth for each of the twelve months, is absolutely original with the author and can be used by no one in any publication without express permission from Veolia J. and Aelva J. Boyile.

"You are a musical instrument. Your body and the conditions of your life are the result of the harmonies or discords played by you or upon you from day to day, by your personal name." It is merely another more subtle, form of Wireless Telegraphy, and of the action of Sound upon the life.

Business men will find these books invaluable in judging employees, partners, general conditions, etc.

As a health guide they are also of great assistance, as well as in showing the direction where physical, financial or mental danger lies.

They have been written for the benefit of those, who having neither time nor inclination for the deeper study necessary to an understanding of the principles involved in this science, nevertheless wish a method which will guide them by the very shortest cut possible, to its results and benefits.

That it is an absolute exact and accurate science, has long passed beyond the possibility of question.

It is the one science which offers a method of at least ameliorating, and a cure, for many of the evils of life.

To those merely seeking amusement they will be found to contain an endless fund of enjoyment.

The definitions given here contain the type of events likely to occur during the life of the individual whose name is being read. Some of them may have already occurred, others will probably be yet to come. If one part of the name shows fortunate indications and another indicates misfortune, then there will be periods when the good fortune will predominate, and other periods when it will seem as if all went wrong.

DIRECTIONS

To use this book follow directions carefully.

The manner of adding the names from the table of letters and numbers as given below is very simple. Any child of ten can learn it in a few moments.

If it is done correctly the accuracy of the reading given for each number will be a never ending source of amusement and fascination to all.

Each letter is to be counted as the number under which it is placed in the table.

Use every name you possess, such as Mary Ann Smith: also your mother's last name, before marriage; and day of month of birth as a number.

Do not add the names together, use each separately.

If one name has a fortunate definition and one unfortunate, the life will partake of each.

The table for addition of names:

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
a	b	c	d	e	f	g	h	i
j	k	l	m	n	d	p	q	r
s	t	u	v	w	x	y	x
